RALPH McGILL

Ike Was On Defensive

A full 24 hours before the President spoke at Peoria, Ill., a Tennessee GOP congressional candidate for a time had official Washington fit to be tied.

He was quoted as having said that in his interview with President Eisenhower he had remarked all would be well with the farmers if only they would get up off their seats. The word used wasn't seats. The one which did go out on the air waves and get into some of the early editions, was a good enough word, only slightly less aesthetic than the more commonplace one of seats.

For a time there was panic. The President's able press secretary, James Hagerty, was of course alert enough to know that if this quote were allowed to stand it would make, as they say, a hollow mockery out of the President's farm oration. It would, in addition, be much more of a nagging phrase than Joe Martin's "Take your Joe Smith and get out of here" order at San Francisco.

So, there was a fast lot of scurrying around. And, finally, it turned out that when all the new quotes were in, that wasn't what the President had said at all. But it was something which the congressional candidate was understood to say just after he emerged from his conference with the President. And it is likely the administration has not heard the last of it.

Parity Where?

In his speech, the President was on the defensive.

He sought to explain that in 1952, when he was understood to promise the farmer full parity, that what he really meant was full parity in the market place.

There is a considerable difference.

The President and his farm secretary have pursued an erratic policy of reducing surpluses. The farmer, caught in an inflationary spiral for all he must buy, has been compelled to depend on support prices or take lower commodity prices in the free market, of which the President spoke.

With wages, hours and working contracts covered by law, and with much of industry in a protected situation, it is impossible to envision the farmer alone in a free market.

Nor is it true to say that a surplus of necessity depresses the farmer. His instinct is still that of the man who lives off, on and from the soil. If he reduces acres he then learns to use more fertilizer, to do a better job of seed selecting, and by so doing he can plant closer. So despite his fewer acres he still comes up with a surplus. He has always lived, and the Bible has taught him to keep his barns and his cribs full.

Smoking Oaths

It is precisely here that the Democratic suggestion seems to be the sounder. And this helps explain why Eisenhower was on the defensive.

The Republican plan for disposing of the surplus abroad has not been well handled. Some of the most fervent and smoking oaths one can hear these days are in the offices of textile managers who, in 1952, were whooping it up for Ike. Sale of surplus cotton has, they insist, crippled them.

The distribution of surplus rice has upset the economy of some of our Asian friends. The plain fact that remains is that while other stocks have been drastically reduced, it was done on a hit-or-miss basis, without any blueprint. And the suggestion is obvious the fact of an election year was reason for the urgency.

Adlai Stevenson's idea for a food stamp plan, to enable the depressed persons of the country to purchase it, and a similar plan for our allies, makes more sense on the face of it.

So does his plan to put more of the surplus into the school lunchroom programs. Let the children of America eat it. Many of them get just one nourishing meal per day, the one at school.

The Eisenhower farm plan will cause no hosannas to echo from the nation's rural areas.

Adlai Warns Ike Fails To Lead Nation

Asserts He Can't 'Pass the Buck'

By HARRISON E. SALISBURY

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 26—Adlai E. Stevenson tonight attacked President Eisenhower personally for "consistent rejection" of positive national leadership.

He declared with homely bluntness:

"There is only one question to be asked about the Eisenhower administration. That is: 'Who's in charge here, anyway?' who, in this businessman's administration keeps the store?"

Coming into the home territory of former President Harry S. Truman who himself introduced the Democratic nominee before a cheering audience of 2,500 in the music hall of the Kansas City municipal auditorium, Stevenson delivered a "give 'em hell" speech calculated to delight the heart of Truman, the old master of the "give 'em hell" technique.

Although Stevenson disavowed any intention of delivering an "attack" upon Eisenhower, he asserted in blunt two-syllable words that Eisenhower had failed to lead the nation.

"The point I want to make tonight," said Stevenson, "is one that President Truman has made by word and more significantly by historic deed. It is very simply that in the United States the president cannot — in Mr. Truman's language—pass the buck. I know that is his language because he always used to have on his desk a sign that said: 'the buck stops here'."

Stevenson returned to the Midwest tonight buoyed by encouraging reports of his swing through the South and border states. He received reports from Senators Symington and Hennings that Missouri is inclining his way as well. Symington estimated that Stevenson should carry the state by 100,000 votes.

Tonight he opened the throttle wide and bore down on what he regards as the central problem of the Eisenhower administra-

Ike To Take Heavier TV Role for GOP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—Under rising pressure from the Republican Party, President Eisenhower is ready to expand his television campaign beyond the six-speech effort on which his re-election strategy was originally built.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced today that the President would go into Pennsylvania for his fourth major TV address at Pittsburgh on Oct. 9.

In addition, Hagerty conceded, the President would surely make more than the "five or six" TV speeches that had once been projected as the core of the Republican presidential campaign.

He said he did not know of any medical reason why the President could not now take part in all phases of campaigning.

Chief among those pressing for a greater effort by the President has been Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The vice president favors more personal appearances by General Eisenhower about the country.

Nixon's advice, it is understood here, is based on a much less optimistic appraisal of the election than is evident among the top party brass in Washington.

PROFESSIONAL LIAR

Lies Convict Matusow in Red Switch

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Harvey M. Matusow's career as a professional liar was climaxed today by his conviction on five federal counts of perjury. He once starred for the government as an anti-Communist witness.

A jury of 10 men and two women took three hours and 15 minutes to convict the 29-year-old Matusow of lying in behalf of 13 second-string Communist leaders.

Sentencing was set for Friday. The maximum is 25 years in prison.

VERDICT FOR COHN

The verdict was a complete exoneration of Roy M. Cohn, the controversial former chief counsel of the Senate subcommittee once headed by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Matusow helped convict the 13 second-string Red leaders. Cohn, then an assistant U.S. attorney, helped prosecute them.

Then Matusow recanted, said his original testimony had been shot through with lies and accused Cohn of inducting him to bear false witness to help the case against the Reds. It was this recantation and the charge against Cohn that was the basis for the perjury indictment.

Matusow was an oddity of a cold-war era that saw the federal government turn to ex-Communists to try to expose the Moscow - dominated web of intrigue inside the United States.

"VICIOUS LIAR"

A federal judge once labeled Matusow "a completely irresponsible witness." Matusow, himself, confessed to having long been a "vicious liar." And he was once so moved by his own perfidy that he exclaimed on record:

"I don't even trust myself."

He appeared headline-hungry. He admitted he would do "anything for a buck." He didn't care whom he hurt, he said.

Crackers Win, Deadlock Series

Billy Reynolds and Don McMahon provided the clutch work that tied the Crackers final Shaughnessy playoff series with Memphis at three games apiece in a 6-5, 15-inning thriller Wednesday night at Ponce de Leon Park.

Little Billy doubled in the 15th to score catcher Frank Sacka with the deciding run. Sacka had singled.

McMahon, appearing in his fourth straight game, came on for the pitching chores in the sixth. He limited the Chicks to a single run over the last 10 frames.

Integration Disciplinary Woes Aired

Teachers Relate 'Candid Facts'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—A group of women school teachers told House investigators today that racial integration in Washington schools was followed by an increase in sex problems, some of which they declined to detail in public.

Dr. Regis Boyle, a teacher at Eastern High School, said that in the first year of integration "we felt that the girls were being man-handled in the corridors in a manner that was not uplifting."

WITNESSES COMMENDED

She said the school newspaper ran an editorial with "hands off" as its theme. Both white and Negro girls were involved in the situation, she added.

Other witnesses testified about the circulation of obscene stories among girl students and the finding in a school yard of girls' dresses and "even worse than that."

INTEGRATED IN 1954

He praised one witness for speaking up, as he put, "in spite of pressures . . . being imposed by various organizations outside the school."

Williams did not specify any organization by name. The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People has contended repeatedly that the subcommittee, composed largely of Southerners, is trying to show that school integration isn't working.

Washington schools were integrated in the fall of 1954, shortly after the Supreme Court ruled that public school segregation is unconstitutional.

The subcommittee's inquiry was praised today to Chairman McMillan (D-SC) of the parent House District of Columbia Committee. He sent subcommittee

Parade Here To Welcome Fair Tonight

High school bands and military units will take part in a colorful Southeastern Fair "Cracker Town" parade down Peachtree street at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The fair itself will open at 9 a.m. Thursday at Lakewood Park. About 400,000 persons are expected to visit the 1956 edition of the fair before the Oct. 6 closing date.

Horses, farm wagons and a posse from the Fulton County sheriff's office will be in the parade, which will have a "Cracker Town" theme. "Cracker Town" is the re-creation of a 100-year-old Georgia community on the fairgrounds.

The parade will form at West Peachtree and Baker streets and move south on Peachtree and Whitehall streets to Trinity avenue.

Events at the fair Thursday will include the opening of the Atlanta National Poultry Show and the Georgia Rose Show. Rose show judging will begin at 11 a.m.

Missing Boy, 7, Is Sought Here

Larry Dean Shaw of 1655 Nekoma St., NW, a second-grader, was last seen at 2:15 p.m. Mrs. Ellen Kasberg of the Nekoma address said she went to pick up Larry and several other children and when he did not appear she assumed he was walking home.

The mother, Mrs. Patricia Shaw, is an office secretary.

54-Low Expected For Cool Sleep

Warm afternoons and cool nights are on tap for north Georgia Thursday and Friday, according to the Weather Bureau.

Clear skies are predicted for both days. The mercury is expected to climb to 82 Thursday afternoon after a morning low of 50.

U.S. Vote Puts Egypt Protest On UN Suez Debate Agenda; Israel, Jordan Are Warned

Threatened With Action By Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold alerted the U.N. Security Council today to the new Israeli-Jordanian fighting but did not ask for immediate action.

He said, however, if Israel and Jordan do not bring the situation rapidly under control, he will ask the Council to take it up.

Israel's overnight infantry and artillery raid, the third this month, ended with heavy casualties reported on both sides.

OVERNIGHT CLASH

The city fighting was a brief but noisy aftermath of the bloody seven-hour overnight battle touched off by an Israeli reprisal invasion of Jordan. That battle ended this morning.

U.N. truce observers quickly ordered a cease-fire in the Jerusalem clash tonight. Both sides obeyed immediately. No casualties were reported.

Jordan authorities have hinted at a massive Arab countercampaign if the U.N. Security Council fails to stop raids such as the Israeli incursion 2½ miles inside Jordan.

31 KILLED

Jordan acknowledged 31 of Jordan soldiers were slain and claimed 90 to 100 Israelis killed in the hand-to-hand fight that raged into the early morning.

Israel said its figures were 50 Jordanians killed, five Israelis killed, and nine Israelis wounded.

Hammarskjold's statement came after separate consultations with representatives of Israel and Jordan. The conferences were followed by a Jordanian threat of counterassault and an Israeli demand for mutual observance of the cease-fire agreement.

Ambassador Abdul Monem Rifa'i of Jordan called the attack a "flagrant act of Israeli aggression, announced and recognized as a government policy."

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban said the attack "was an inevitable consequence in the chain of murders and aggressions committed by Jordanian forces against citizens of Israel, within Israel territory."

'PATIENCE AND RESOURCEFULNESS' NEEDED

Dulles Says Ike Brother Never Appeased Peron

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles took issue today with Adlai E. Stevenson's suggestion that President Eisenhower's brother urged the administration to "appease" former dictator Juan Peron of Argentina.

Dulles told a news conference that Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower performed a highly constructive service during a 1953 mission to Latin America as the President's personal emissary.

At no time, he said, did Dr. Eisenhower interfere with State Department policies in that area. He cited the fact that it was during the present administration that Peron was overthrown and forced into exile.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, charged in a speech at Miami, Fla., last night that the Eisenhower administration "chose to appease" the former Argentine strong man.

Stevenson added that "A member of the President's personal family assumed special, if informal, responsibility for our relationships with Argentina." An aide said he was referring to Milton Eisenhower, head of Johns Hopkins University and one of the President's closest advisers.

Dr. Eisenhower visited 10 South American capitals at the President's request in 1953 to get first-hand information about these neighboring countries and their leaders.

While in Buenos Aires, he met with Peron, who later expressed admiration for the President's brother. Officials of both countries said U.S.-Argentine relations improved after the visit.

In his Miami speech, Stevenson said that in "Latin America especially" this country's foreign policies sometimes have "placated America's enemies and advanced their intrigues."

Dulles Expects Trade Losses To Bend Cairo

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today that mounting economic pressure eventually would force Egypt to accept a "reasonable settlement" of the Suez Canal dispute.

He told a news conference Western countries have no plan for "economic warfare," as such, against Egypt.

But he said economic pressures, such as loss of trade, tourists and private investments are already building up—"inevitably and inexorably."

Dulles spoke a few hours before the United Nations Security Council began a discussion in New York of the bitter argument.

Again ruling out any idea of shooting a course through the seized waterway, Dulles appealed to Western nations to be "patient, yet persistent and resourceful" in working out a peaceful settlement.

"There is a good chance," he said, "that Egypt will come freely to recognize the importance of working with, not working against, the many important countries which use the canal."

In words obviously aimed at Egypt's President Nasser, Dulles said, "I don't see any prospect of Egypt making a success out of the path on which it is now going."

Foreman Killed By Crane Here

A construction crew foreman was killed Wednesday when struck by a broken hoist arm on a crane in South Atlanta, police said.

The victim, Carlton Eugene Davis, 27, of Rte. 1, Collinsville, Ala., was pronounced dead upon arrival at Grady Hospital. W. S. Yancey, 42, of 2748 Bankhead Highway, NW, a member of the work crew, suffered a slight injury when struck a glancing blow by the two-ton arm. The tragedy occurred at the Carling Brewery plant under construction at the south Expressway and Highway 41.

Briton Calls Cairo's Plea A Slander

By THOMAS J. HAMILTON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 26—The Securtiy Council decided today to debate both the British-French complaint against Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal and the Egyptian countercomplaint on the agenda.

The United States cast the deciding vote for the inclusion of the Egyptian version of the dispute, which accuses Britain and France of actions threatening international peace and security and violating the U.N. charter.

The council adjourned until Oct. 4 or 5—the date to be decided later—to await the arrival of the British, French, United States, Egyptian and Yugoslav foreign ministers, who will take part in the debate. A statement to the council by Arkady A. Sovolev, the Soviet representative, gave a hint that Dmitri T. Shepilov, the Soviet foreign minister, also would participate.

Sir Pierson Dixon, the British representative, condemned the countercomplaint as "an outrageous slander," which was intended to "divert attention from the situation Egypt itself has created." Despite other protests from France, Australia and Belgium, the council included the Egyptian item on its agenda by a vote of seven to zero, with four abstentions.

The four countries opposing its inclusion abstained after they learned this morning that they had lost their fight as a result of a decision by Secretary of State Dulles. The U.S. delegation was instructed to vote in favor, thus providing the seven votes needed for a majority. The six other counties voting in favor of including the Egyptian complaint on the agenda were: the Soviet

Surgery Saves $5,000 Rings Gulped by Pup

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 26 (UP) — A well-bred French poodle, who swallowed his owner's diamond rings valued at $5,000, went under the surgeon's knife today. The rings were recovered and the dog was doing well.

Mrs. Richard Whitkoff, who lives on fashionable Davis Island, returned Tuesday from a family visit and found a four and a half carat diamond ring and her wedding band missing. She immediately notified police and told them she had left the jewelry on her book case.

A thorough search of the house took place. The rings could not be found.

Then Mrs. Whitkoff said she had a "hunch" that her canine pet may have swallowed them.

Her husband rushed the dog to a veterinarian. The veterinarian, using a fluoroscope, found the valuables in the dog's stomach.

The operation followed.

Teachers Put $3,000 Aside To Foil Union

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Atlanta Public School Teacher Association officials Wednesday night said the unexpended balance of a $3,000 "legislative fund" of the organization is sequestered to avoid possible seizure by the American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO).

The local organization is affiliated with the national, but is threatened with expulsion because it has refused Negroes as members.

The fund was brought into question Wednesday by Miss Annelle Sampley, who was transferred as a teacher from Brown High School to Hoke Smith High school. She asserted the transfer was a "remarkable coincidence" following a report she wrote to teachers of her school which in effect demanded a detailed accounting of the fund.

The report also defended the school budget law passed at the last session of the Georgia legislature, some provisions of which have been attacked by Board of Education and school administrative officials.

Roger Derthick, association president, exhibited copies of minutes of the Sept. 17 meeting of the teacher organization's executive committee. In them he explained that "so large an amount was put on savings in order to protect whatever surplus there might be in the general account in the event Local 89 (the local teachers' organization) is expelled

$75 Million in 20-Year Building For State's Growing Schools Asked

By BRUCE GALPHIN

The State Department of Education said Wednesday it would ask the next session of the General Assembly to provide additional school-building funds for growing school systems.

Dr. Claude Purcell, assistant state school superintendent, estimated it may cost $75,000,000 over the next 20 years to keep financing on the current basis guaranteed by the Minimum Foundation program.

The new round of state aid would help systems which have grown considerably in the past five years.

Such large systems as DeKalb, Cobb, Bibb and Atlanta have registered spectacular growth in the five-year period, Purcell noted. But many smaller systems likewise have expanded to the limit of their present space, he added.

Jim Cherry, DeKalb school superintendent and legislative chairman of the Georgia Congress of PTAs, estimated that a majority of the state's systems would be affected. Cherry has long advocated current financing for school-building aid.

The first round of state building help was initiated in 1951-52. Funds for the program were based on average daily attendance of that year. Almost all of the 16,000 classrooms allotted under that program will be completed by the end of this year, Purcell said.

The proposed increased aid for building would require no changes in the law but would mean greater appropriations, Purcell said. The education department currently allots some $14,500,000 yearly to pay for the building program. It is committed to these payments for another 15 years.

To put building funds on a current basis would require an additional annual appropriation of two to four million dollars by the legislature, Purcell said.

Most systems five years ago elected to let the authority construct new buildings. They use annual state aid payments for rent to the authority, he explained. A few systems, he added, use the money directly for their own financing programs.

Purcell said all systems should pay their local shares before receiving additional aid.

Adlai Farm Program Is Fakery, Nixon Says

Nominee Isn't in Same League With Ike as Leader, V-P Says

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Sept. 26 (AP)—Vice President Nixon said today Adlai Stevenson "isn't in the same league" with President Eisenhower as a world leader, while his farm program is "political demagoguery and fakery."

He lashed out at the Democratic presidential nominee in a speech here a half-hour before Stevenson delivered a campaign talk across the Missouri River in Kansas City, Mo.

Nixon's attack capped a busy day in which he said the problems of integration can be solved only by a "change in the hearts of men" and acknowledged he holds honorary membership in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Nixon also addressed a rally at Springfield, Mo.

BRINGS IN TRUMAN

"With every speech he makes," Nixon said of Stevenson, he "is exposing how negative and barren is the warmed-over Truman program he is trying to sell again to the American people. He is using the shopworn trick of charging the Eisenhower administration with failure on the very issues on which he and Mr. Truman are the weakest."

The vice president said Stevenson "certainly put his foot in his mouth when he claimed in Florida yesterday that President Eisenhower had followed a policy of appeasement."

"If he wants the people to decide the result of this campaign on that issue, we will be most happy to do so." he declared.

CHARGES KOREAN SLIP

"Mr. Stevenson forgets his defense of the former Secretary of State Dean Acheson foreign policy . . . which in January 1950 announced to the Communists and the world that we would not defend Korea or Formosa. In June the Communists accepted this invitation to attack and began the Korean War.

"It was Mr. Stevenson who quailed at the strong stand President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles took with regard to Quemoy and Matsu. There he followed a line exactly opposite to the Acheson Korean policy. And the Communists huffed and puffed but did not attack.

"Let's set the record straight once and for all. President Eisenhower has never in his military or political career engaged in appeasement of any aggressor and he isn't going to start doing so now. The reason we have not had to fight since the President ended the Korean War is that we have always made it clear that we are not afraid to fight . . .

"When it comes to the qualifications for leading the United States internationally, Mr. Stevenson just isn't in the same league with the man who is recognized everywhere as the outstanding leader of the free world today."

HONORARY IN NAACP

Nixon's ideas on civil rights were given at a Houston, Tex., news conference in which he acknowledged that he was an honorary member of the NAACP and expressed hope that the problems of segregation would "never become a political football."

Nixon called for a "moderate, steady advance" in keeping with the Supreme Court ruling banning school segregation, but warned against "extremes on both sides." His experience, he said, was that "moderate, clear-thinking, right-thinking people will prevail."

HASN'T PAID DUES

Nixon said he became an honorary member of the NAACP in 1946 but has "not paid dues nor taken any part in the organization's activities." He said he is an honorary member of many organizations.

"Any organization not advocating the violent overthrow of the government has the right to express its views," he said. "The NAACP does not advocate the overthrow of the government by violence, of that I am sure."

Asked if he endorsed NAACP policies, Nixon replied:

"We must work toward a realization of equality of opportunity . . . and the good things of life, regardless of race, creed or color."

He said the matter of preserving law and order through use of state military forces in areas where segregation has caused trouble is a problem of the individual states and one that must be handled on the state level.

Police Outjuggle Moonshiner, 81

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 26 (AP)—J. T. Mann, 81, was fined $55 for violation of whisky laws today, after he was nabbed in a juggling act with a stranger.

Officers said that when approached on a street, Mann tossed his jug of moonshine into a parked car. But they said an occupant of the car quickly tossed it back to Mann, who caught it. He was arrested with the moonshine in his hands.

U.S. Protestants Comprise 53 Pct. of Church Members

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—Fifty-three per cent of the religious population of the United States is Protestant, forty per cent Roman Catholic and six per cent Jewish.

This newest estimate of church and synagogue membership distribution was made public here tonight by the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

Part of a detailed study that will eventually produce information on religious affiliation down to the county level, the present estimate was based on a compilation and analysis of figures provided by 114 religious bodies with a total membership of more than 74,000,000.

Not all church groups were represented in the survey. Notably lacking were statistics on Negro churches, and some of the more "loosely organized" denominations. This lack, it was emphasized, was occasioned largely because these bodies proved unable to provide adequate information.

The findings were presented to the quarterly meeting of the National Council's general board. The 250-member board of the policy-making arm of the council which represents 30 major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox church bodies.

States with the highest percentage of church members, according to the survey, were Rhode Island, Louisiana, South Carolina and Mississippi—plus the District of Columbia. All of these claimed as church members more than 75 per cent of their 1950 white population.

At the bottom were Nevada, Oregon, Washington and West Virginia with less than forty-five per cent of their white residents on church rolls.

Acheson Brands Ike's Foreign Policy 'Russian Roulette with an Atomic Pistol'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson said tonight the United States under the Eisenhower administration has "seemed to be playing Russian roulette with an atomic pistol."

Speaking at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in suburban Bethesda, Md., Acheson added:

"Relations with Japan, Southeast Asia, South Asia, the Middle East, and Africa have in all cases become more distant, in many cases strained and in some, the Arab countries, practically hostile."

Acheson served in President Truman's cabinet. Discussing foreign affairs since 1953, he said in a prepared address:

"Our closest friends and allies we scared to death—with the fraudulent and provocative talk of unleashing Chiang Kai-shek, with flamboyantly conducted and publicized nuclear tests, with the announcement of the new massive retaliation policy in which we seemed to be ready to produce the day of Armageddon at a place of 'our own choosing,' with loud internal debates as to whether we would do this over Indochina or Quemoy or Matsu, without much regard to anyone else, with interviews on the 'necessary art' of going to the brink of war, and so on.

"We seemed to be playing Russian roulette with an atomic pistol which would destroy ourselves and everyone else, too.

"Through this mile-wide hole in the line the Russians scored again and again with the ball carried by the dove of peace."

When the Republicans took over in 1953, he said, they "might have reaped the harvest which seven years of hard and not unintelligent work" by the Democrats had produced.

"But unfortunately the Eisenhower Republicans had become the prisoners of the primitive propaganda and slogans which they had taken over from the McCarthy-Taft-Knowland forces in order to win the election."

"This propaganda cultivated the notions that the United States was all-powerful and could accomplish anything that it willed to accomplish," Acheson said.

"Therefore, if anything disadvantageous to us occurred anywhere . . . it was because the national will had been frustrated by weak and irresolute allies or corrupted by disloyal persons within the government who wished the disadvantage to occur.

"This theory had many advantages to those cynical, reckless, or ignorant enough to propound it."

Estes Calls Ike's Farm Speech 'Pie'

By DAYTON MOORE

ANDERSON, Ind., Sept. 26 (UP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver charged tonight that President Eisenhower made "tricky promises" in his farm speech last night in an effort to snare farmers' votes.

The Democratic vice presidential candidate said Mr. Eisenhower's address "was loaded with misstatements, distortion, and—very sadly, indeed—with misrepresentation."

The President's goal of "full income parity" in the market place "is just so much 'pie in the sky, bye and bye'," Kefauver said.

OX-ROAST

"Just like the promises of 1952, it is made to snare your votes," the Tennessean said in a speech prepared for delivery at a Democratic ox roast here in this Hoosier corn-and-hog area.

"Neither President Eisenhower nor the Republican party are bound by this 1956 election-bait to do a single thing . . . to secure any kind of price or income protection for the farmer," Kefauver charged.

Kefauver said Mr. Eisenhower was merely promising "that some time—maybe—prices received by farmers might be fair, if farmers will just be patient and wait long enough for the accident to happen."

Mr. Eisenhower "ought to know," Kefauver said, "there is no 'parity in the marketplace' ahead for farmers . . . anywhere in the foreseeable future."

Top Agriculture Department economists have said they don't see such "parity" anywhere in sight after special studies of the corn and wheat situation, according to Kefauver.

"LOADED SPEECH"

Mr. Eisenhower "may not have known that he was being handed a loaded speech on the farm situation," Kefauver said, because a White House "palace guard" permits him to see "only properly brain-washed officials sure to follow the Adams-Hagerty line."

Kefauver referred to presidential aide Sherman Adams and White House press secretary James C. Hagerty.

Kefauver added, "The President in these days sees and talks to few average Americans."

"Very clearly the speech did misrepresent President Eisenhower's own 1952 campaign promises to the farmers," Kefauver said.

Frenchman Says Men's Face Cream Will Beautify U.S.

PARIS, Sept. 26 (UP) — A French beauty expert said today he has invented a product to help American men overcome their "fright" of beautiful women.

Raymond Barbas, director of the Jean Patou Fashion Co., said he is going to market a face cream for men.

"Men, especially in the United States, are bashful in their relations with pretty women so we have designed a cleansing cream that men can use to boost their confidence," Barbas said.

He said men in the United States need it most because "American women are those who take the best care of themselves and they usually terribly frighten ordinary men."

Campaigns Assume Definite Patterns

President Eisenhower's major address on farm policy was on the negative side. He defended Secretary Benson's program and attacked the Democrats for "politicking" on the issue.

In fact, the speech sounded like an elaboration of his earlier remark in Iowa about the problem, to wit: "By golly, we're doing all we can."

As for using the farm issue for political purposes, Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson returned the fire in his Jacksonville, Fla., speech yesterday. He reminded the administration that the soil bank program obviously was being used to sway the farm vote in the doubtful Midwestern states.

All of which points to the fact that neither party has found the answer to the farm problem, because there's no single answer. It is primarily a problem of surpluses—surpluses of crops and of people on the farms. Economic pressures of low prices and high costs will solve each of them in time. Unless he can supplement his income from some other source, the small farmer eventually will be driven from his land.

The differences in approach by the two parties is evident enough. Both maintain that the small farmer should be saved for the good of the nation and yet they are able to see that agriculture, like everything else in America, is in a constant state of transition. Benson's policies are accelerating the trend to big farms, however, while the Democrats would make the transition easier for the individual farmer.

Taking note of this change, Stevenson said in Miami Tuesday night: "Of course, there is a new America every morning we wake up. It is upon us whether we will it or not. . . . The new America is the sum of many small changes—a new subdivision here, a new school there, a new industry where there had been swampland—changes that add up to a broad transformation of our lives. . . . Our task is to guide these changes."

Farmers resent the fact they are not sharing in the prosperity—much of it through government protection—which other segments of the economy are enjoying. They are worried about their future as the backbone of our industrial society. Ike made them feel no easier.

In making their choice about who is to guide these "changes" which are taking place, more people are noting that the campaign is developing along definite lines.

While President Eisenhower proclaims the GOP as the "party of the future," he still must defend one of the bitterest Old Guard reactionaries in Sen. Dirksen of Illinois.

The Democrats, led by Stevenson, are blueprinting a program for the future while the GOP seems to be mainly concerned with the New Deal past and is clearly on the defensive.

The Chest Is Readying Its Annual Big Push

Fall brings a lot of things including the Community Chest drive and Atlanta's annual examination of conscience.

Yesterday, uncomfortably close to dawn, approximately 2,000 Atlantans who are expected to raise 75 per cent of the goal, met at a precampaign breakfast to hear a discussion of this year's drive.

The goal this year is greater than ever, a matter of $2,105,401. The reason for this is obvious. Atlanta keeps growing. This growth not only means more schools, roads, sewers, water lines and other civic services but a growth in needs.

Atlanta has every reason to be proud of the record of its chest and the leaders of the community who each year volunteer their time to see that the job is done and done right. Agency requests for operating funds are scrutinized and pared to the bone to guarantee contributors that their money will be spent both well and wisely.

This year, Atlanta will be asked to support 42 agencies, two more than in the past. Like it or not, it's a growing sort of place, and each new bulge in the population curve means not only a rise in community income but new obligations as well.

McFarland To Keynote Leadership Institute

Atlantans will have an opportunity Friday morning to hear one of America's most popular and inspirational speakers.

Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant for General Motors, will speak at 10 a.m. at the Georgia State College gymnasium.

The McFarland speech, "Leadership—Today's Challenge," will open the fourth annual Georgia Leadership Training Institute sponsored by Georgia State College and the Pilot Club of Atlanta.

More than 400 civic leaders, high school and college students have registered for the institute.

The goal is to stimulate and develop Georgians, particularly young people, as leaders capable of going out and guiding their communities toward the solution of the many problems of modern life.

Georgia State College, the Atlanta Pilots and cooperating clubs are to be commended for arranging the conference and for bringing Dr. McFarland to Atlanta as the keynote speaker.

Who Would Go Seining For a Rainbow Trout?

The dove season is here and with it the annual series of stories of those who shoot the birds over baited fields.

First of the season, insofar as we know, is a group arrested in Cobb County by state and federal wildlife rangers. It was a nice bag on the part of the wildlife men, including as it did some leading citizens and a state wildlife official.

According to reports there are plenty of doves for everybody in Georgia this year, provided the daily limit is observed. This business of slaughtering them over a baited field is about as sporting as spearing fish in a bathtub. It also cuts down the breeding stock for next year.

Congratulations to the wildlife rangers for moving in despite the prominence of some of the members of the Cobb County party. Congratulations, too, to Judge James Manning for serving the cause of justice and true sportsmanship.

State Has High Hopes For Probation System

Georgia's new statewide probation system is under way and its progress will be watched with considerable interest by all taxpayers and such members of the general public who have developed a social conscience.

The system is the result of as constructive a piece of legislation as any administration has passed in recent years. Prior to the passage of this act, probation was limited to a handful of urban counties where it proved its usefulness and value time and time again.

Now its benefits have been extended to all counties. The results are expected to be the salvaging of many first offenders who otherwise might turn into hardened criminals through confinement and a reduction in Georgia's big and expensive to maintain prison population.

This year and the next will be crucial ones. The reputation the probation system makes, or fails to make in its infancy, will determine the attitude of the people toward it for years to come.

Regrettably, there aren't enough trained probation officers to supply the demand. Obviously, some of the appointments to these sensitive posts have been made on the basis of political expediency.

In work of this kind, however, good will, common sense and good intentions will go a long way toward overcoming ignorance, except of the invincible kind. Here is something the mass of people is solidly behind. It is difficult to see how it can be anything but a success.

Judgment of Minority Is the Biggest Danger

Final tallies on the recent statewide primary are encouraging. Voter turnout, especially in Fulton and DeKalb counties, was much higher than expected.

Let us hope this indicates a trend and that those agencies who attempted to arouse voter interest will keep up their good work.

In a recent address, President Eisenhower declared: "We have no fear of the judgment of all America. The only thing we need to fear ever is the judgment of the minority."

Every thoughtful citizen will agree with the President. The willingness of the voters to weigh the candidates and the issues and to exercise their own judgment at the ballot box provides the basic strength of our system of government.

The English word "politics" is derived from a Greek word defined as "belonging to the citizens." It loses its meaning only if the citizens fail to participate.

We are told, too, that the word "idiot" comes from a Greek term "idiotes" used in connection with people who refused to vote in Greek elections. It is most applicable and if that is not the true derivation of our English word, it certainly should be.

In Greece as in America, the "idiotes" decided the outcome of many elections. There as here the judgment of the minority was the greatest cause for fear.

'Automobile Governor Isn't Diabolical Device But a Way To Limit Speed, Not Acceleration'

Marietta — After following the arguments, pro and con, concerning safety versus horsepower in automobiles for a goodly span of years, I feel the urge to unburden myself of the following thoughts, of whatever worth.

A letter in The Constitution recently was based upon the belief that a governor is a diabolical device to limit acceleration as well as speed.

Forgetting the long words and using only third grade arithmetic, it can be readily shown that a governor can be installed on any car in a practical manner, such that acceleration up to a determined speed is purely a function of the engine and transmission ability.

Acceleration is safety and is a result of high power to weight ratio. More power to the horsepower (and torque) race.

But with this real advance in safety comes a responsibility to limit highway speeds in order that the old "mass times velocity squared" law doesn't kill more people than the good acceleration saves.

Maybe the solution is too simple for this advanced age. The only thing you have to do is make the governor sensitive to car speed rather than engine speed.

The real problem is and will continue to be: Why do we pass when there is no room? Why do we drive faster than the road conditions permit?

AL W. MOONEY.

'Let Politicians Heed Advice of Margaret'

Decatur—Referring to reports of the visit of Princess Margaret Kenya in The Constitution recently, public servants and high courts should read same.

Especially: "Harmony cannot be achieved by political systems or legislation. It starts in the home and spreads through contact between family and friends."

A salute to Margaret.

Poetic Lines Attributed To Browning's Wife

Milledgeville—I enjoy the editorial page of The Constitution daily.

In the Saturday, Sept. 22, 1956 issue it was stated that Robert Browning wrote the lines, "Earth's crammed with glory, and every common bush afire with God."

However, the poet's wife, Elizabeth B. Browning, is the author of those beautiful lines. The poem in which the lines appear is "Aurora Leigh."

Decatur — Unbridled aggression has brought chaos and destruction to our world.

In these days of political uncertainties and confusion, we need statesmen and divine guidance.

The United States and England should have undertaken to build the Aswan Dam and to improve the miserable lot of the Egyptians.

We should move swiftly to regain the friendship of the Egyptian people before Nasser plunges the world into bloody and unnecessary war.

America's Changes Outpace Politicians

SYCAMORE, Ill.—The America to which the presidential candidates are appealing for support is changing so fast that many of their arguments seem outdated almost before they hit the headlines. All across the Plains states, even the little towns like this solidly Republican community 60 miles west of Chicago are expanding every week farther out into the black earth of the prairie.

Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois is talking more concretely about the future than President Eisenhower, but neither is talking as much as the leaders of these prosperous little market towns about the need for more schools, more roads and new outlets for the rapidly growing productivity of fields and factories of the old Northwest Territory.

The Middlewest is dreaming of what life will be like in the wide area around the Great Lakes when the St. Lawrence Seaway is completed and ocean liners from Europe are docked along the city streets of Chicago, Cleveland and Milwaukee.

Thus, they are at least eager to listen to any national leader who not only shares their dreams of an expanding Middlewest but who can articulate plans to take advantage of the exciting new prospects they are now beginning to envisage.

All this must be perfectly obvious to the two presidential candidates. The growth and vitality of America are more evident now than ever before. Almost everywhere one goes between the Rockies and the Appalachians, America is building or talking about new roads, new underpasses, new schools.

While the candidates for the presidency and the national legislature continue talking about old feuds and problems of the past, the local leaders are wondering how they are going to house their people, where they are going to school their children.

Most of the campaign oratory to date has been an argument about the past, but the major question in the election is not about the past but about the leadership of the nation in the next four years.

So far as can be determined in two long journeys crisscrossing this state, complacency is the main Republican danger. The Democrats are stirred up in the cities and most of the down-state Democrats who switched to Eisenhower in 1952 seem to be in a mood to go back to Stevenson. But the down-state Republicans are so confident of victory that their leaders express some concern.

Eisenhower is popular and the Democratic emphasis on policies for the future is popular and the election may very well turn on the electorate's choice between these two.

Charles L. Allen

Nature Has Its Way Of Fulfilling Desire

We were born "bundles of faith." Nothing is more trusting than a child. But instead of developing that faith, usually we concentrate on teaching the child fear. We make sure the child learns that knives will cut, cats will scratch, dogs will bite, fire will burn, automobiles will kill, water will drown, disobedience will bring a whipping.

Downtown the other day I actually heard a mother say to her little boy, "If you don't hush crying I'll let that mean policeman yonder put you in the dark jail." What a wonderful way to smother that child's faith with unreasonable fear.

As we grow older we learn other fears. A schoolboy can fail an examination. A bigger boy can teach a little boy how much a lick of the fist can hurt. A teen-ager can be socially slighted. We can learn the meaning of privation. We experience the disappointments of love, the pain of a broken heart, disillusionment because of the treachery of a friend, the shock of business failure, the burden of a sense of guilt.

It's no wonder that many people have so emphasized their fears that their faith is buried and forgotten.

A scientific magazine sometime ago declared that all normal children possess qualities of genius. When you think of your own precious little one as a genius, you are entirely correct. All children are geniuses, but almost no adults.

What happens? No one loses his mental power but our power becomes buried.

Study closely the dealings of Christ with people and you will see this was the basic principle by which he worked. He changed people by releasing them. There was Matthew, who had let greed make him a traitor to his own people. Jesus did not condemn him. He held before Matthew the highest vision. Like a magnet drawing a piece of steel, the vision of his possibilities drew out Matthew's real self and made him St. Matthew. Jesus used his power to make people believe in themselves. That worked the miracle of change.

There is a heartwarming play called "Seventh Heaven." It opens with the return of Chicot, the battle-blinded French soldier. He has come back to his sweetheart who had starved and suffered in a dismal attic room, but she never faltered in her conviction that her Chicot would return. In her joy of being with him again, she cries she now can live in her "seventh heaven."

He replies, "If you believe it, it's so—if you believe it, it's so."

Faith is not believing something that isn't so. Jesus taught that if we believe something, it will become so.

He said, "Whatsoever things ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them" (Mark 11:24).

Roscoe Drummond

Iowa Poll Shakes Republicans' Hopes

DES MOINES, Iowa—Here in the great central granary of the nation where discontented farmers turned the election to President Truman in 1948 by tilting most of the Midwestern states to his side, the Eisenhower and Stevenson presidential campaigns have met and, in a sense, paused in midair. Several hundred thousand Iowans saw both candidates, heard both candidates and, perhaps, decided how they were going to choose between the candidates on Nov. 6.

In the wake of their appearance before huge audiences in a state which has cast its electoral votes for three Democratic presidential nominees (Roosevelt twice and Truman) and three Republican presidential nominees (Willkie, Dewey in 1944 and Eisenhower) in the past six elections, the strengths and the differences of the two campaigns begin to emerge more sharply.

One thing is evident. There is an ascendent confidence among the Democrats which they are not quite sure is going to last. There is an ascendent jitteriness among the Republicans which they believe Eisenhower, before the fateful day of balloting, will likely dispel.

The President and Stevenson, it is now clear, are going about their objectives in different ways.

Eisenhower is either departing from or redefining his intention not to "barnstorm." This was visible in his recent two-day foray into Iowa. If barnstorming means delivering speeches and asking for votes at every curbstone and airstrip at which he pauses, the President is not barnstorming.

But in the 24 hours he spent in this part of the country after landing at Des Moines, Eisenhower's political motorcade winded its way on three different trips, passing slowly and purposefully through nine cities and towns.

This, I would say, is speechless barnstorming.

Even at the national plowing contest near Newton, where at least 60,000 farmers and their families were standing in the fields to hear him, Eisenhower did not feel it needful to use a speech of argument and policy to make friends — or to make votes.

Stevenson is doing the opposite. He is speaking everywhere and saying things. He is speaking briefly and he is speaking lengthily and in between times he is issuing "position papers" on the "new America."

Several Republican leaders told me they thought the President would carry the state by some 150,000 votes. In 1952 he carried it by 350,000. If the Eisenhower vote is cut that much in Iowa, the Republicans are in serious trouble elsewhere in the Midwestern farm area which they carried more narrowly in 1952.

Big Interests Issue Gains Momentum

WASHINGTON—The issue of big business influence on the Eisenhower administration, which Adlai Stevenson expounded upon in some detail this week, has an interesting history that goes back to the very start of this first Republican administration in 20 years. Responsible for dramatizing it that early was the Democratic leader of the Senate, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

You may recall the story as told by this reporter at the time—how the party leader passed out the word to Democrats on committees before whom Eisenhower Cabinet and "little cabinet" appointees would appear in connection with their confirmation to ask each one to tell about his financial status, what stocks he owned and so forth.

The shrewd Texan knew the answers would show — and they did—that big business and big finance would be heavily represented in the President's official family.

The publicity to this effect was drawn out over several days when the Democrats insisted that, under the law, certain members of the Cabinet would have to dispose of stock holdings because the departments they would head handled contracts in items produced by their companies.

Ironically — and much to the dismay of many of his fellow Democrats — the Texas senator in company with another Texan, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, tarred his own party with that same business-influence brush when the two used their power in the recent Democratic-controlled Congress to put through the natural gas bill.

That played right into the hands of President Eisenhower, who struck back by vetoing this measure which would have exempted natural gas producers from regulation by the Federal Power Commission.

However, the President somewhat diluted his dramatic gesture by basing his veto not on the principle and purpose of this measure, with which he said he agreed, but on the "arrogant" lobby financed by big oil that promoted it.

Were everything hunky-dory with everybody, this issue of big-business influence perhaps would be of less consequence.

But there are other complaints that help aggravate it. One is the high cost of living, which is becoming a major issue. Another grievance is the drop in farm incomes, and another is the increasing difficulty of small business.

There are successive tax reductions for business, industry and coupon-clippers under the economic theory that this promotes business investment and creates new jobs. But no direct tax reduction is provided for low and middle income folks.

There are the special privileges granted to big utilities, dramatized in the abortive Dixon-Yates deal aimed at crippling TVA, which is a potent issue all through the South, and the White House's part in the defeat of the Hell's Canyon government project, which is an important issue in the Pacific Northwest.

For another, there is the "packing" of regulatory commissions here on behalf of the businesses they are supposed to regulate, one of the most important stories of the last four years but so little told.

DOUBLE DUTY—LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 26—Ullie Canter draws double duty while walking a picket line at a dairy firm in Lexington—he's also taking care of his 8-month-old son, Paul Allen, while his wife is at work. The Dairy Workers Union has been on strike about three months against two firms.

Fire Killing 5 Is Set 'To Smoke Out' Wife

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (AP)—Police said a 27-year-old man admitted tonight than, in trying to "smoke out" his hiding wife, he set a fire which killed five persons Tuesday morning.

Sgt. Drew Brown said Willie Lee Chism, Negro, told them he tossed a lighted match down a stairwell of the Near Northside tenement into some rubbish, thinking his wife was hiding there.

Race Problem Worse, Says Billy Graham

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham says most of the South's Negro and white ministers agree that "race relations are worse now than they were two years ago."

And, said Graham, most of the clergymen "confessed that the church is doing far too little about it."

Writing in the current issue of Life magazine, Graham said he came to that conclusion after discussing the problem of integration of the races with Southern ministers of all denominations.

NO EXTREME VIEW

The evangelist said he also believed that the vast majority of Southern clergymen do not hold extremist views on the explosive integration issue.

"Most of them feel," he wrote, "that segregation should be ended now on buses, in railroad and bus stations, hotels and in restaurants.

"However, most of them feel it is far too early to implement school integration in some sections of the Deep South.

"They seem to feel that the day will come when both races will be psychologically and spiritually ready for it, but that the time has not come yet."

"MISCONCEPTIONS"

While many "misconceptions" about integration exist, Graham said, there are many real "difficulties" to be solved.

"There is the fear of intermarriage and the mongrelization of the race," he wrote. "These problems, I admit, are not easy. They definitely exist. With many of these difficulties the sociologist, anthropologist, scientist and legislator can help."

Graham said he himself had decided "after study of the Bible, as well as current events," that all of his future "crusades" would be conducted on an "equal basis."

He pledged to "hold no more crusades unless all of any race can sit where they please."

Escape Artist Seized in Car At Roswell

Notorious prison escape artist Franklin Robinson was arrested late Wednesday in Roswell, police said.

Robinson, 32, escaped six weeks ago from the Wayne County Prison branch at Jesup, where he was serving a total of 60 years on burglary charges, police said. He also has a 4-year federal sentence on charges of post office burglary.

Roswell Patrolmen Felton Cagle and H. D. Thaxton stopped an auto driven by Robinson at the Roswell city limits and turned the escapee over to Sgt. W. D. Anderson and Det. R. E. Nickerson of Atlanta. Robinson was placed in city jail.

Robinson made a spectacular escape through a police cordon on Marietta Street in Atlanta July 4. He, with two other prisoners, Michael and Joseph Krull, escaped from the federal courtroom at Rome six months ago while awaiting trial.

Henderson Boycott Spreads to 2 More Integrated Kentucky Schools

By the Associated Press

A white boycott of integrated Henderson, Ky., schools spread yesterday to two more schools inside the city.

Attendance increased slightly at Weaverton Elementary School where the boycott began Monday but prosegregationists said the "boycott will continue."

The White Citizens Council has called for parents to keep their children out of all schools where Negroes have been admitted.

The Central and the 7th St. elementary schools with a total enrollment of 800 reported 180 pupils remained home.

Donald E. Jones, city director of pupil personnel, said he did not know how many pupils were taken home because of integration.

Only three of Henderson county's 17 previously all-white schools have admitted Negro pupils.

Weaverton has five Negroes. Central two and 7th St. five.

The boycott began at Weaverton, with 570 of the 870 white students staying home. Yesterday, 206 showed up. This morning 223 reported.

At Mobile, Ala., fire swept the rear of a Negro mechanic's new home in a white section Wednesday night some 24 hours after three shotgun blasts were fired at the modest structure.

Booker T. Gulley, 37, and his family were staying with relatives when the blaze broke out. Police reported finding a container under the house which "apparently had contained kerosene." Gulley said he was moving as quickly as he could sell out and find another place.

Other segregation developments included:

Tyler, Tex.—Plans were being made for Thursday's hearing in Federal District Court that might give the NAACP a new lever to pry open doors of all-white schools. The NAACP is seeking permission to file contempt of court charges against two Texarkana, Tex., Junior College officials. Two Negro students were prevented from entering the college Sept. 10-11 by a white crowd after the court had ruled the city-state supported institution could not bar Negroes.

Wichita Falls, Tex.—Dormitory students at Midwestern University voted nearly 2 to 1 against a recommendation that Negro students be admitted to university dormitories now.

Kansas City—Several crudely made crosses were burned in a mixed Negro and white neighborhood.

City Growth Brings Peak Chest Goal

This year's Community Chest goal of $2,105,401 is the highest in Atlanta history because of the "growing demand for Red Feather services," a campaign leader said Wednesday.

Joseph K. Heyman, one of three general chairmen of the Chest drive, told some 2,000 businessmen and women that Atlanta's population is growing "at the rate of one new citizen every 18 minutes."

He said the larger the population, the greater the need for Community Chest services.

Speaking at the fourth annual pre-campaign breakfast of the Commerce, Industry and Finance Division at the Biltmore Hotel, Heyman noted that two new agencies added to the Chest this year raise the total to 42 different services. The new agencies are the Grady Homes Girls Club and the Atlanta chapter of the Georgia Assn. for Mental Health.

Mayor Hartsfield said he was "proud of the increased Community Chest budget because it is magnificent evidence of a growing city."

The mayor noted that more than 60 per cent of the work of the Red Feather agencies "is concerned with the children of our community."

M. F. "Bud" Grant, chairman of the Commerce, Industry and Finance Division, noted the division will be responsible for raising 76 per cent of the total goal. He explained the "Atlanta Plan" set up four years ago to reduce the number of volunteers needed to collect Chest funds.

Under the plan, he said, chief executives of business firms will (1) secure their own firm's gift, (2) solicit their executives and (3) solicit their employes or appoint an employe chairman for this purpose.

The business representatives closed the pre-campaign meeting by repeating in chorus: "We will do this job."

50 Children Spared as Truck Rams Bus

LAGRANGE, Sept. 26 (AP)—More than 50 children escaped serious injury near here Wednesday morning when a truck hit the back of a school bus, knocking it on its side as it was entering the Mount Pleasant school driveway in Mountville.

Four of the children were hospitalized in LaGrange with minor injuries.

Eddie Gates, 16; Cathie Harris, 9; Larry and Lillie Williams, were treated for minor lacerations and bruises at city-county hospital and dismissed.

Limus Gates was the driver of the bus.

The driver of the truck was listed as Martin Toole, 49, of Gardon, Ga., an employe of the Benton Express Co. He was charged with following too closely behind another vehicle on the highway.

You're seeing why you'll ride sweet and low in the '57 FORD

On Wednesday, Oct. 3rd, you can see the new '57 Ford in all its glory. But (above) we're giving you a sneak preview of the "hidden beauty" that made the new Ford possible. You see, the new Ford was built from the inside out . . . just as a beautiful piece of architecture starts with its foundation. The new "Inner Ford" is the secret of Ford's magic . . . the inside story of why Ford is the longest, lowest, biggest, most spectacular Ford ever!

For the first time, you get a full-cradle frame that sweeps out as it dips down between the wheels. This helps give Ford a lower silhouette for 1957 . . . as much as 4 inches lower. You get full head room and leg room—actually you get more inside room, easier entry than ever. Rear springs are mounted outside the frame so the rear seats are lower. The new driveshaft is tapered and hooks up with the differential lower down than ever before. This lets you ride sweet and low with full road clearance.

But this is just the beginning of the new Ford story! Wait till you try its exciting new sizzle! Wait till you see Ford's wonderful new bodies that ride sweet and low with Ford's remarkable new frames. They not only have quality in every built-to-last part and feature . . . but they say "quality" in every clean-limbed, sculptured line. Your Ford Dealer will have something really new to show you for '57.

GEORGIA ROUNDUP

3 Motorists, Pedestrian Killed on Highways

Three motorists and one pedestrian were killed in traffic over Georgia Tuesday and Wednesday.

Billy Dillinger, about 35, of Monroe, was killed Wednesday when the car in which he was riding collided with a tractor-trailer on Georgia Highway 78 on the outskirts of Monroe.

His wife was treated for shock at a Monroe hospital and released. The truck driver was unharmed.

Walton County Sheriff C. J. Sorrels said the collision occurred when the tractor-trailer attempted to pass Dillinger's car. Dillinger was thrown out of the car at the impact and run over by the truck, the sheriff said.

Webb Jackson, 44, a store keeper from Rt. 3, Woodstock, was fatally injured when the car he was driving collided with a loaded state highway department dump truck. The wreck occurred at 7:50 a.m. Wednesday at the intersection of Georgia Highway 205 and the Univetta Rd., three miles west of Canton.

George Marshall of Albany was killed Wednesday when the tractor-trailer he was driving crashed into Sweetwater Creek Bridge on U.S. Highway 1, two miles south of Baxley.

Martin Nolan, 75, of Lakewood, Fla., was killed at Folkston Tuesday when he walked into the path of a passing auto, the state patrol reported.

Four Races Run Off

Four strongly contested county races for the state legislature were unofficially decided Wednesday in runoff elections. In Lamar County J. R. Smith defeated L. G. Litsey 1,287 to 757. Incumbent D. E. Turk conceded defeat in Wilcox County to Cecil D. Crummey with a vote of 1,045 to 995. With 15 of Gwinnett County's 18 precincts reporting officials said, Earl P. Story with 2,305 votes defeated Dan C. Cole with 1,151. In a close race in Polk County, John P. Pickett defeated Wayne Gammon 1,983 to 1,868. . . . Patricia Hobbs, 17, has been elected "Sweetheart" of the Blakely FFA chapter. . . . The J. N. Bray Co. of Valdosta Tuesday submitted the apparent low bid of $103,493 for construction of a National Guard armory at Valdosta. . . . The fall conference of the First District PTA Georgia Congress will be held in Albany Oct. 4. . . . A meeting of the Sixth District American Legion posts and women's auxiliary units will be held in Louisville Sunday. . . . Malcolm Reese, secretary-manager of the Fitzgerald Chamber of Commerce, is in New York this week for interviews with prospective Georgia-bound companies.

Rep. Flynt Nominated

Rep. John J. Flynt, unopposed in the Democratic primary Wednesday, in Griffin, was formally nominated to succeed himself in Congress from the Fourth District. A dozen speakers lauded the services rendered by Flynt and many suggested that he would make a good candidate for governor of Georgia. . . .

Rep. Flynt

James Wallace Rampey, convicted last week on a charge of intent to bribe Maj. David Miller, former provost marshal at Moody AFB, Valdosta, Wednesday was sentenced to 18 months in federal prison. . . . Emanuel County Sheriff Peyton L. Youmans, GBI agents, and the State Highway Patrol, have joined the Twin City police in the search for an unidentified driver who struck down 4-year-old Gordy Martin of Twin City Friday. . . . The fall meeting of the board of managers of the University of Georgia Alumni Society will be held in Athens Saturday. . . . The Georgia Adult Education Council was organized in Athens Wednesday with Eugene Welden of the University of Georgia's Center for Continuing Education being named chairman. . . . Federal Judge Frank M. Scarlett has signed a decree confirming the findings of a special master that the Savannah Cotton and Naval Stores Exchange and its president, Olin T. McIntosh, were innocent of any violations of the antitrust law. . . . International Latex Corp. has officially announced plans to locate a plant in LaGrange.

Life Begins at 39

It is indeed strange that on the same day in September of the year 1956 both Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen should be starting the two key games in the National League, frothing at the mouth about a pennant, Maglie pitches for Brooklyn and Jansen for Cincinnati. One is 39, the other 36.

Two years ago they were wheeling and dealing Leo Durocher to his last miracle. Afterward, they were given up for dead and passed on from the Polo Grounds with a respectable degree of mourning.

Bisher

Now the Giants rest in anything but peace in seventh place, and find themselves on the verge of taking a permanent trip from the Polo Grounds. Meanwhile, as they say in the cowboy serials, over on the other side of the gulch, old man Maglie, more recently discarded by Cleveland, is hurling himself into the heart of Brooklyn, which once took great pride in despising him.

He is pitching a no-hit game against the Philadelphia Phils. The story is strictly a baseball romance.

If you will regard the lifetime record of Salvatore Anthony Maglie, you will find it marked with gaposis. He quit baseball for two years during the war to hold down a defense job. He pitched the 1945 season, shared with Jersey City and the Giants, then there occurs another gap in the record.

He went off to join the Pasquels in Mexico. Again as he went the Giants did not appear to give a fig. They were particularly more concerned about the likes of George Hausman, a very small second baseman; Roy Zimmerman, a first baseman, and Ace Adams, the star of their bullpen.

Maglie says his goodbyes almost apologetically.

—With the Pasquels to the End

"It is a matter of money," he tells reporters. "I will make as much this year, with a bonus of $5,000 and a salary of $13,000, as I would in five years with the Giants at my present pay."

Maglie was an admirable loyalist. He stayed with the Pasquels until the league blew up. He pitched two seasons, consisting of 90-game schedules, and won 20 games in each. He would start on Thursday, relieve on Friday and Saturday, and start again on Sunday. The other three days he rested.

There were others who went along to Mexico. Max Lanier, Fred Martin, Mickey Owen, Red Hayworth, Danny Gardella, Adams, Zimmerman and Hausmann. Owen is a coach at Boston. Martin still pitches in the Texas League, usually polishing off some other pitcher's game. Only Maglie still works in the majors.

He pitches a no-hitter at 39. He wins 12 games after he has been passed over by two teams desperately needing a jift. He keeps a staggering Dodger team in the middle of the race. Without his 12 games they'd be pushing the Pirates for sixth place.

It is a strange conclusion for a pitcher who never seemed to be wanted. He was not a factor when the Giants allowed him to drift away to Mexico. He was not a factor when he came back. He was not a factor in spring training with Cleveland this year, and it was obviously only a matter of time before he was to get away.

—In Three Years, 59 Victories

The thing that Maglie seemed to have lost between the Polo Grounds and Ebbetts Field was his urge to win. The Giants sagged miserably and by the time he reached Cleveland the Indians were a group fresh out of spirit.

In Brooklyn, though, he found himself in the middle of a fight, and this seems to have been his inspiration. He thrives on battle, for he is cool, always self-possessed, an easy workman who moves serenely about the field.

Contrast the spirit of Maglie with the failure of Don Newcombe. Newcombe wins 26 games, and without these 26 the Dodgers would be pushing the Cubs for last place. But the day comes up that they need the big one. He is a strapping lumberjack of a man of limitless stamina, and so working on three days' rest seems no great imposition.

Maglie, the tired 39-year-old, pitches a no-hitter. Newcombe, the strong young man, is clobbered and the Dodgers drop a full game behind Milwaukee.

If Maglie had not gone off to Mexico perhaps it never would have happened. He was 33 years old when he came back. There seemed little left for him. For one thing, the Giants couldn't remember well enough to know if he was a man who could pitch for them.

He could pitch for them. He near about broke the National League for hatching scoreless innings. He sets a club record for hatching scoreless innings. He sets a club record for pitching percentage. He wins 50 games in three seasons, during which the Giants win two pennants. It is great.

But there is no thrill like the no-hitter. It is the last. At 39, they don't come around again.

Tech, Sooners, Rebels, Aggies Snider's Choices

Mustang Letdown Foreseen; Ole Miss Offense Too Swift

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Oklahoma's top-ranked Sooners sail into the collegiate football picture this weekend and not a moment too soon for the forecasters, who are running scared already after last week's upsets.

The Sooners, as usual, are picked to win. Their foe is North Carolina, already licked by North Carolina State, and while the Tar Heels will be primed for a supreme effort they're outclassed. If they aren't, then hold on to your hats for we're in for the dizziest season of all time.

Around the nation:

SOUTH—Mississippi over Kentucky—Swifty offense over defense here. Texas A&M over Louisiana State—Osborne perks up Aggies. Miami over South Carolina — Temporary sidetrack for Gamecocks.

ALSO: Tennessee over Auburn, Vanderbilt over Chattanooga, Florida over Clemson, Georgia over Florida State, Tulane over Texas, Davidson over The Citadel, Duke over Virginia, Maryland over Wake Forest, North Carolina State over Virginia Tech, George Washington over Furman, West Virginia over Richmond.

EAST: Pittsburgh over Syracuse—A tossup; for the Eastern championship.

Cornell over Colgate—An edge up front.

Also: Columbia over Brown, Dartmouth over New Hampshire, Army over VMI, Navy over William and Mary, Springfield over Amherst, Boston U. over Massachusetts, Princeton over Rutgers, Gettysburg over Bucknell, Holy Cross over Dayton, Lehigh over Delaware, Temple over LaFayette, Muhlenberg over Albright, Yale over Connecticut.

MIDWEST: Illinois over California—Risky because Illini are untested.

Michigan over UCLA—A tipoff on the Wolverines.

Oklahoma over North Carolina—Off and running again.

Also: Iowa over Indiana, Northwestern over Iowa State, Wisconsin over Marquette, Purdue over Missouri, Ohio State over Nebraska, College of Pacific over Kansas, Kansas State over Colorado, Cincinnati over Tulsa, Detroit over Villanova, Drake over Iowa Teachers, Hardin-Simmons over Wichita.

Also: Arkansas over Oklahoma A&M. Arizona Tempe State over North Texas State. Airzona over South Dakota State. Texas Western over Abilene Christian.

FAR WEST—Michigan State over Stanford — Spartans to sparkle in West. Minnesota over Washington—Piercing Huskies defense.

Brooks Now Trail Braves By Full Game With 3 To Go

By JOE REICHLER

BROOKLYN, Sept. 26 (AP)—Robin Roberts threw a dark blanket over Brooklyn's pennant hopes Wednesday by pitching the Philadelphia Phillies to a 7-3 victory that dumped the desperate Dodgers a full game behind the league-leading Milwaukee Braves.

The defeat, witnessed by 7,847 stunned spectators in cold, wind-swept Ebbets Field, cast a pall over the Dodgers, who had pinned their hopes for a first-place tie on the shoulders of their 26-game winning ace, Don Newcombe.

ROBIN ROBERTS

Beat Bums and Newcombe

Big Newk, however, working with only two days of rest following his five-hour, rain-interrupted pitching chore in Pittsburgh Sunday, was not quite up to it. He had to be excused at the end of five innings, trailing 4-2, after having bashed for five of Philadelphia's 10 hits.

Although Newcombe obviously showed the effects of his strenuous marathon job in Pittsburgh, he might have fared better were it not for Sandy Amoros' glaring muff of Elmer Valo's routine fly to left in the second inning. The Phils took advantage of this unexpected aid by jumping on Newcombe for three runs, two of them unearned, to overcome a 1-0 deficit. The Dodgers never recovered from the blow.

With only three games remaining to play, the Dodgers now find themselves behind the Braves in the important "Lost" column for the first time in nearly two weeks.

Milwaukee, with three games to play, has a 91-60 mark for a .603 percentage. Brooklyn, also with three to play, has a 90-61 record for .596 and trails by one game. The Cincinnati Reds, 89-63 and .586, are 2½ games behind with two games to play.

Roberts, making a determined, 11th-hour bid to achieve 20 victories for his seventh consecutive season, throttled the Dodgers with five hits, only one through the last six innings, to register his 19th triumph.

McMahon's Iron Arm Squares It for Crax

Reynolds' Double in 15th Sets Up Tonight's 'Payoff'

By JESSE OUTLAR

In one of the most dramatic games ever played in Ponce de Leon Park, iron-man Don McMahon and Atlanta's come-from-behind champs clipped Memphis, 6-5, in 15 enchanting innings Wednesday night to square the Southern Playoff and stack all the chips on the seventh game Thursday night.

Billy Reynolds sent Frank Sacka and 3,461 nerve-wracked fans home via a booming double off the right-field tin with one down in the 15th. McMahon, who had served up ten tremendous rounds of relief, walked away with the winning hand.

Sacka, aboard via a lead single, daringly gambled and won on his race from first to the plate. Ed White played the ball clumsily in right, and Jim Marshall then made a desperate and wide relay peg, as Sacka touched the plate with the all-important run.

With the playoff tied three-all, thanks to McMahon's steel nerves and iron arm, the Crackers will shoot with Earl Mossor in the deciding game Thursday night. Marion Fricano, who has given up one run in 21 innings, will go for the Chicks. The $3,000 playoff pot, plus the Dixie Series melon and prestige, will be at stake.

Memphis was only one pitch from the Dixie Series, and the Crackers were only one pitch from unemployment, when Bob Thorpe raised the Crackers off the defeat carpet in the 11th.

With two down in the 11th and the count no balls and two strikes, Thorpe ripped a chips-down single off Tom Flanigan. The left-handed swinging Reynolds, who failed to notice Flanigan is a southpaw, stampeded in from third with the tying run. Reynolds had opened the inning with a double and advanced to third on the second out. The Chicks had gone out front in the top half with their lone run off McMahon.

Though Thorpe saved it, and Reynolds won it, the Crackers were passing out the plaudits to McMahon in the clubhouse.

The barrel-chested right-hander, working in relief for the fourth game in a row and the fifth of the six contests, saved his greatest effort for tonight's game.

In the top of the 15th, Manager Don Griffin singled with one away and umpire Neil Strocchia ruled Gordon Goldsberry's foul drive past first a double. Everyone flipped but McMahon, who calmly went about disposing of the Chicks.

With runners perched on third and second, big Don got Jim Snyder on a pop, handed Clem Koshorek, who already had four hits, an intentional walk, and then fanned Flanigan. He struck out nine men, and Flanigan was four of them.

The Chicks were only a slide away from Texas in the ninth when Jim Landis became the third out, instead of the winning run.

Landis led the frantic round with his third single, and Snyder whipped a double down the left line. Bob Montag scooped it up, and Sammy Meeks made a swift, but too late relay to the plate. Had Landis hit the dirt, he would have made it. Instead, he hit Sacka which is like hitting a brick wall. Both the ball and Landis bounced off Sacka, and the alert McMahon, on top of the plate, pounced on the stunned Chick with the ball, before he could touch the plate.

That was a signal for the angry Chicks to storm umpire Neil Strocchia, shouting obstruction and several other things. Finally Strocchia ordered Landis out and asked Fricano, who wasn't pitching, to accompany him.

The Crackers almost lowered the curtain in the 11th, after Thorpe came through with the saving single. For Montag, ordinarily allergic to left-handers, rammed a double past first. Thorpe set sail for home when Goldsberry fired to second, but Koshorek's relay strike got there first.

The extra-inning drama never would have gone in the books, but for Buck Riddle's single in

Clutch Man Menger Named Utility QB

May See Offensive Action; Dodd Sees Line Play as Key

By AL THOMY

Johnny Menger, the Augusta lad who lets Bobby Dodd pick the spot and then he's Johnny-on-it, is going into the quarterback insurance business at Georgia Tech.

Dodd announced Wednesday that Menger, the clutch, spot and jack-of-all-positions, will be worked some at offensive quarterback in the future in a move to preserve a prolonged eligibility for sophomore Doug Veazey and give the Jackets some depth behind Wade Mitchell and Toppy Vann.

"If we get caught short, it would be better to use Menger for five minutes than to lose Veazey for 10 games in 1959," said Dodd as the Jackets ran through their most spirited practice session of the season.

The plan would work something like this: Johnny might be sent into the game in a quarterback emergency. Having played the position before, he could run the team for a short time, and since he is the top kicker on the squad, he could punt and then remain on defense, thus spelling the regular quarterback. Menger saw considerable defensive action against Kentucky Saturday.

The trim Augustan is a do-it-all back. He punts, kicks extra points and field goals, plays halfback or quarterback.

Starter Mitchell, who will be in the front lines against SMU Saturday night at Dallas if he feels he is ready, was limber and effective in the Tech session Wednesday. Vann also was in good form after a siege with the food-poisoned detail. Charlie Maynard, who was running third string, was returned to the Redshirts. "He is not quite ready for varsity action," say the coaches.

After reviewing the SMU-Notre Dame films, Dodd and his staff reached the conclusion: The Mustangs beat the Irish up front, in the line. "SMU outplayed Notre Dame badly," said Dodd. "They deserved to win. Their line of scrimmage not only held its own with Notre Dame, it whipped them, and that's a thing you seldom see. It's now a question whether our line can hold its own with SMU.

"We didn't do a good job holding Kentucky, and we weren't completely satisfied with our line play."

As a result, the Tech forwards were butting heads Wednesday in a rugged session. It was an extra duty performance since the Jackets usually don't have rough work this time of the week.

FLAT FACTS: There'll be some new faces at end this week for the Jackets. Don Ellis, out of a bruised hip last week, returns to man his right end post, and Jerry Nabors starts at left end ahead of Tommy Rose. The Nabors-Rose battle has been a toss-up all the way, and that's what the coaches did last week—tossed a coin to see which would start. It's Nabor's turn against the Mustangs . . . Star of Wednesday's line one-on-one was the Redshirts Harry McDevitt, who was seldom moved by varsity performers. He's ineligible this year . . . Publicist Ned West has flown to Dallas for pre-game drum-thumping. Observers are looking for a turnout of 50-60,000 . . . Brightest note of the Wednesday session was the spirit and zip of the squad, something lacking before the Kentucky game. "They're not pleased with themselves," said Dodd. "They know they didn't play up to capabilities. They're showing more life now, coming out of the huddle with more zip."

Beamon Throttles Yankees in 1-0 Duel

Ford's Wild Pitch Margin For Orioles' Rookie's Win

BALTIMORE, Sept. 26 (AP)—Charlie Beamon, 21-year-old righthander imported by Baltimore from Vancouver, made a resounding major league mound debut here today, blanking the Yankees on four hits as the Orioles won their 1956 home finale from New York, 1-0.

A third-inning wild pitch by Whitey Ford, following singles by Tito Francona and Bob Nieman, accounted for the lone run of the contest, denying the Yankees' ace lefthander his 20th victory of the year. Ford's record is now 19-6.

Beamon, who posted a 13-6 record this season for last-place Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League and was purchased by the Orioles through a working agreement, struck out nine and walked seven.

An audience of 7,000 cash customers and 548 additional Ladies' Day guests gave the sturdy Negro from Oakland, Calif., a big ovation as he retired Enos Slaughter on a hoist to center fielder Dick Williams for a shutout.

Foytack Foils Chisox

DETROIT, Sept. 26 (AP)—Righthander Paul Foytack yielded only three hits today and the Detroit Tigers won their final home game of the season, defeating the Chicago White Sox 4-1.

Foytack allowed only one hit—Larry Doby's 23rd home run in the eighth inning—over the last seven innings. It was Foytack's 15th victory against 13 defeats.

Ted, Mick Swat Nats

BOSTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Ted Williams and Mickey Vernon, the Red Sox' elder statesmen, drove in two runs apiece today in support of Frank Sullivan's six-hit pitching as Boston closed out its home season with an 8-4 victory over Washington.

Washington's biggest moment was one the Senators and Jim Lemon, in particular, won't brag about. Lemon was called out on strikes with the bases loaded in the seventh inning for a major league record of 135.

The previous season's high for a player was 134 by Vince DiMaggio of the old Boston Braves which has stood since 1938.

Score Wins 20th

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26 (AP)—Vic Wertz hit a single and four consecutive doubles and Herb Score won his 20th game as the Cleveland Indians clinched a tie for second place with an 8-4 victory over the Kansas City Athletics tonight.

Score, a 23-year-old southpaw who has lost only nine games, fanned 12 to run his league leading total to 263. He became the Indian's third 20-game winner and fifth in the league. Bob Lemon and Early Wynn have won 20 for Cleveland. Chicago's Billy Pierce and Detroit's Frank Lary are the others.

Babe Little Better but Remains 'Critical'

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 15UP (UP)—Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Didrickson Zaharias' doctors reported a slight improvement in her condition today, though there was no change in the general outlook that death will end her long fight with cancer—probably soon.

The second bulletin of the day, issued by her doctors at John Sealy Hospital, said:

"There has been no change. The Babe has had an uncomfortable day on account of nausea. The condition has not changed significantly otherwise. She is very weak, as she has been for 36 hours.

"She is conscious and is rational when she talks although to conserve her strength she refrains from much talking. She has chosen to do without the oxygen tent by spells."

A doctor said that what this adds up to is a slight improvement in her condition. But he emphasized that her condition is still critical and that he expects it to remain so.

Mrs. Didrikson, 42, perhaps the most successful and versatile woman athlete of all time, has been suffering from cancer for three years.

Georgia Sophs Slated For Heavy Service

Gunnels, Dye, Sedlock, Lucas Must Supply Reserve Strength

By LARRY FOX
Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS, Sept. 26—Disappointed by his line play against Vanderbilt, Georgia Coach Wally Butts said Wednesday he would be counting on four sophomores—ready or not—to play plenty against the Bulldogs' future foes.

Starting duty, at least for the first half of the season, is not anticipated for any of the foursome. But every one of them will log plenty of playing time, you can be sure.

The four sophomores are tackles Riley Gunnels, Nat Dye and Bob Sedlock and guard Cicero Lucas.

"Our line play against Vanderbilt was poor," Butts said, "but a lot hinges, of course, on how good Vanderbilt proves to be."

In other words, if Vandy's men are great, the Bulldogs would not have suffered too much from the comparison.

For added line strength, Georgia must go with what it has.

"Don't expect me to go around demoting anybody," Butts told the Atlanta Touchdown Club Monday, "because I don't have anybody to promote. We do not have enough line depth, which, of course, is our own fault. Any improvement will have to come from within."

Although he will not say so publicly, Butts was somewhat disappointed with the play of his seniors, especially at end and tackle. However, there is no relief in sight at end except for tough Angelo Monti, another senior. Sophomore Bill Watkins has been slowed by a bad back.

Veteran guards Wayne Dye and Tony Cushenberry, both starting their first games at Georgia, played especially well and so Lucas may have the easiest break-in period of the four sophomores. "Cicero has the fire," Butts says admiringly, "but he is learning a new position."

The tackles, though, will be in action almost all the way behind regulars John Lack and Pud Mosteller. The three sophs haul plenty of beef into the lineup. Gunnels weighs around 230; Dye, younger brother of Wayne, scales 218, and Sedlock is the team behemoth at 275.

Gunnels is probably the farthest advanced of the three. "Within two or three games, Gunnels ought to do pretty well," Butts said, "Although no sophomore can be expected to burn the league up."

Right now, Gunnels and Nat Dye are running second string with Sedlock and Mike Meatheringham on the third unit. Senior Alex MacDonald is the swing man.

Incidentally, although Mosteller played briefly at guard against Vanderbilt, he will be used exclusively at tackle from now on, starting with Florida State Saturday.

SCRIMMAGE SCRAPS: Al Francis, heart and soul of the Bulldog B-team line, was carried off the field right at the end of Wednesday's workout with a painful ankle injury. Trainer Sam Richwine said he believed Francis' right angle was broken or badly dislocated. The junior transfer from Notre Dame was rushed to Athens General Hospital for examination and treatment. . . . Offensive runners who looked good in the workout were junior fullback Wilbur Lofton and soph left half Gene Littleton. Soph end Jimmy Sealy was a standout on pass receiving.

Nugent Figures Morale Is Seminoles' Weapon

Special to The Constitution

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 26. Florida State coach Tom Nugent said today the only strategy his Seminoles will use against Georgia Saturday is "the same high morale we used against Ohio University."

"There isn't anything we've got that Georgia hasn't seen before," he said. "We just have to go with a will to win."

The Seminoles exploded their 1956 season last Saturday night with a 47-7 triumph over Ohio University. They clash with Georgia's Bulldogs in Athens Saturday afternoon.

"We know Georgia is in a different league than we are," Nugent said. "We know from experience they'll play the rotation type of game where they wear us down with a three-team system.

"Our only ace in the hole will be the same high morale the squad used against Ohio last week."

Georgia walloped the Seminoles 47-14 here last season and 14-0 in 1954.

Nugent said he's been told by "the dopesters" that "Georgia is one of the three teams we're not supposed to have a chance to whip. The other two are Miami and Auburn.

"I can't tell the fellows that," he said. "They'll believe they're as good as any of them until they're shown otherwise."

The Seminole coach said he hopes to be able to go with the two-team system against the Bulldogs "so we can stay with them in the stretch."

Florida State trailed Georgia 14-7 at halftime last season, but had to give in to superior manpower during the final two periods.

Nugent admitted he wasn't too happy with the way things were shaping up for the Georgia game, mostly because the Seminoles have had to limit their practice sessions.

Auburn's 'Bargain Placement' Rugged

By MICKEY LOGUE
Constitution Sports Writer

AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 26—Auburn has found more than its share of good buys in the bargain "placement" the past five years, and wouldn't mind shopping in the same department for a victory over Tennessee.

A glance at the won and lost column posted during Ralph Jordan's tour as head coach explains the emphasis on extra point and field goal kicking at the Plain this week.

Since Jordan returned to Auburn in 1951, the Tigers have won four games on extra points and two on field goals. Two ties were salvaged through successful place-kicking. Alabama's 16-7 triumph in 1953 was the only verdict that went down the drain via an enemy toe.

Howell Tubbs

Tommy Lorino

With "Automatic" Joe Davis doing the booting, the Plainsmen edged Florida, 14-13, in 1951. Davis again did the honors a year later, stopping Clemson, 3-0, with a field goal. Dead-eye kicking enabled Auburn to overtake Mississippi State, 21-21, in a 1953 thriller.

Then came the era of Joe Childress, just an average place-kicker ability-wise, but Mr. Calm, Cool and Collected in the clutch. Childress' two blue-chips boots furnished the margin over Miami in 1954, 14-13.

The difference between a fine and just average season could be directly traced to the cleated shoes of Childress and Howell Tubbs last year.

Childress' PATS edged Georgia Tech, 14-12, and Mississippi State, 27-26, and Tubbs' field goal repelled Georgia, 16-13. Joe's kicks knotted Kentucky, 14-14.

No wonder quarterback Tubbs, reserve fullback Billy Atkins and Capt.-end Jerry Elliott, a new addition to the place-kicking corps, were going strong after the practice day was done Tuesday and Wednesday.

Tommy Lorino, soph left half sensation, brings the surest pair of hands since Vince Dooley's into the holding end of the PAT.

Backfield Coach Buck Bradberry, who tutors the placement troops, says, "Lorino is a good holder and Tubbs a good kicker. They make a dependable extra point and field goal combination. And Atkins is an acurate kicker.

"Tubbs is the best field goal kicker we've had here."

That's saying plenty with Davis, whose followers had a special song they sang when he prepared to tee off, numbered among the has-beens.

With Jerry Elliott sparkling as a kickoff man, Tubbs and Atkins hitting the bull's-eye on extra points and Lorino, Atkins and Eddy Jackson punting 'em high and far, Auburn apparently stands ready to match Tennessee kick for kick Saturday at Legion Field.

PLAIN FACTS—To show how much in demand Auburn-Tech tickets are, publicity man Bill Beckwith, a staunch fisherman, was overheard turning down "Personal Rights" to a two-acre pond for four Grant Field ducats . . . Colliers and Sports Illustrated magazines will be among those covering the Tennessee game pictorially. So will representatives for Dave Garroway's Today TV show. . . . Donnie May and Eddy Jackson are improving and "could give some people trouble" at Auburn's fullback slot .

Clark Opens Grid Season

Atlantans Ed Peters, Willie Hunter, Bennie Foster and Levan Green will be in the starting lineup Thursday night when Clark opens its 1956 grid season against Ft. Valley State at Herdon Stadium. Kickoff is 8 o'clock.

On the high school front, a pair of undefeated elevens lock horns. They are Turner, a 20-6 winner over Augusta's Lucy Laney, and South Fulton, which edged Howard, 18-12.

Pearson's Moore Fits 'G. O.' Tag; He's Real South Georgia 'Go Boy'

By Charlie Roberts

Someone must have had a premonition when G. O. Moore was named. The Atkinson County High speedster is really a "Go" Boy even if folks around Pearson do figure he is one of those gridiron flowers "born to blush unseen and waste its fragrance on the desert air."

Charlie Roberts

Coach Sid Strickland, feeling that knowledge of Moore's sterling abilities should not be localized to the down-near-Douglas area, filled us in on the feats of his 6-0, 178-pound senior halfback.

Young G. O. scored 91 points and gained more than 1,400 yards for the 1955 Pearsonites, who won only three of 10 games. That's a lot of yardage even for a back whose team is winning and has the ball much of the time.

Moore, by way of proving he was no one-year flash, stormed the Pelham defenses for 216 yards rushing on 11 carries in a 26-13 victory in the 1956 opener. He scored 12 more and rushed 211 on 19 carries in a 14-14 tie with Ashburn. He made 21 and 17 individual tackles in the two games to demonstrate that he's no one-way player.

Strickland says every team the Region 1-B East Tigers play keys on Moore and that every point and yard he makes is well-earned. "The coach of every team we play will tell you he's the best his team's faced," says Strickland. "The best part is that he's a fine leader, realizes the value of the blocking of the other boys and is a fine boy to work with."

THE FUNNYBONE—Puckish, fun-loving Coach Lloyd Kimmel, tongue-in-cheek, answered question about how his graduation-riddled Smith team is progressing a few days before its 7-0 upset of Bass: "Our defense is great, but we're worried about our offense. Why our tackling dummies beat us 6-0 in a scrimmage the other day."

PREP PRATTLE—R. E. Lee of Thomaston has the runningest team in Georgia so far. Not only is Jim Cavan's ace 195-pounder, Jim Wood, leading 1-AAA in rushing with 271 yards in three games, but his Bill Curtis and Durell Price are next in line with 238 and 174 yards. . . . Jerry McCracken, sparkling Sylvan end, played all his previous football in Germany, where his Army dad was stationed. . . . The Monticello-Hawkinsville game may be the week's classic, and Bobby Holland's state defending C champs from Monticello might need the talented toe of guard Virgil Murphy, who kicked five extra points in that rout of Eatonton last week. . . . Trion begins to look like a year-long north Georgia sensation. Its 36-0 victory over Villa Rica raised a few eyebrows. Hoss Ricks, Villa Rica's 225-pound tackle, was switched to fullback and made the longest gain, a mere eight yards, through the rugged Trion middle. . . . When Casey King's Patterson powerhouse trimmed Pearson, 26-7, it was the winners' 22nd straight regular-season victory. Edsel Yoemans and Ladonn Chancey are leading the attack thus far. . . . Overlooked in all the fanfare about Stone Mountain's Phil Ashe, do-it-all, 225-pound tackle, has been Paul Hicks, a really outstanding 180-pound guard.

OSCAR CAMP, the Dalton whiz, has carried 29 times for 249 yards, an 8.6 average, in three games. He's scored seven TDs, returned eight punts for 247 yards, a 31 average, one kickoff for 95 yards, caught two passes for 28 yards. But Dalton isn't "all Camp." Freddie Amtower has averaged six yards per try with 140 yards on 23 lugs, returned four kicks for 82 yards, completed his only pass throw for 10 yards, scored two TDs. . . . Decatur and Roosevelt chances were severely hurt with the loss by broken legs of end Ted Abernathy and guard Clarence Duffey, both top-flighters. . . . Add surprise teams of year: Albert Mathews' Acworth with QB Jerry Jones in the saddle. . . . Hard-to-Believe Dept.: As accomplished as Stan Gann is, Northside has another QB who seems capable of just as great feats before he's done, soph Ben Ferguson. . . . Three of the state's best linemen are named Bell, all around the 200-pound mark — tackle Jack of Gainesville, center Johnny of Murphy, tackle Stanley of Avondale. . . . Barry Billington, 140-pound end, has been the "difference" as Coach Al Jeffrey's Forest Parkers won three straight. He's caught five of five passes thrown to him for 205 yards. Two went for TDs and three others set up scores.

KEGLER'S CORNER

Rider, Graham Bang Out Early 600 Series

By GEORGE CUNNINGHAM

In a feat almost comparable to George Volkert, Paul Rotenberry and Wade Mitchell scoring touchdowns the first three times Georgia Tech handles the ball Saturday night, Harold Rider, Bill Little and George Graham celebrated the opening of the renovated Larry Bell Lanes Tuesday night at Marietta with 600 plus series.

George Cunningham

Rider, a Kennesaw Land Co. pin-peddler, registered a 626 three-game total. Economy Cleaner teammates Little and Graham were next with 615 and 610.

High individual game went to Little, a ten-pinner for 28 years, with a 248 and no one was near this figure, although 200 games were a common occurrence.

The three bowlers, who carried an approximate 180 average last season, were the cream of the Marietta leagues in 1955. Graham holds the city championship for the past two years.

And to show the high caliber of scores, a 2,575 by Sunlite Bakeries resulted in a 4-0 blank by Economy Cleaner's 2,716.

Main reasons for the improved scores, Joe Robertson says, are better playing surfaces and installation of automatic pin-setters. Robertson believes the latter factor probably contributes 10-15 pins a game to a kegler's score.

ALLEY AMBLINGS—Esther Monfort still leads the pack in the Women's Monday Night League. Esther's 151 average and 457 series are highs. . . . SURPRISE DEPARTMENT — Ann Nalmberg, a 98er, hit a 150 that enabled Twelve Oaks to blank Holland Furnace and move from the cellar to fourth place. . . . And Hazel Cook, a 113er, collected a 165, to lead Arrow Distribution over GE. She shared Monday night high with Jean Hinton's 165. . . . Roy Gow, a 400 series man in Atlanta, journeyed to Larry Bell and fired a 558. . . . NAMES AND SCORES FROM FT. MAC—Hal Grace, 207; Gray Hammond, 195; Fred Kluge, 535; Bill James, 536. . . . And congratulations to APACO No. 1's Wade Milford his 234 individual and 522 series, along with Joe Brunauer of Carborundum. . . . AND DID YOU KNOW—Don Turner, a deaf and dumb bowler, once recorded a 269.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Jimmy Knight, star fullback at Russell High School, won a coveted football trophy. He was voted "Player of the Week" by high school students and football fans for his sterling performance in the Sylvan-Russell game on September 13. MILTON CAPTAIN MARSHALL SIMS GETS 'WORD'

Coach Gus Letchas Tells Tackle, "Roswell Will Be Tough"

Whitt, Nesbit Keep Milton Air-Minded

Sims, Summerour, Rainwater, Lawson Lead Alpharettans

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

You don't have to sell a guy short who has had six straight winning seasons, several region or sub-region championships and a 45-13-3 won-lost-tied football coaching record. That's Gus Letchas of Milton High in Alpharetta.

You don't expect too much of a team that lost seven starters and most of its lettermen from the previous 6-4-0 season. That's the Letchas and Ralph Wilson-coached Eagles of 1956, a graduation-riddled outfit that is a riddle for sure.

You expect even less when you remember some of the losses of the last two years were all-staters like Gene Estes—1954 Class B back of the year—tackle James Dinsmore and guard Oliver Mullinax, not to mention fullback Hamp Phillips, the incomparable peewee; guard-fullback Don Henderson, ends Bobby Rowe and Jerry Hagood and ball-carrying ace J. B. Roper.

The first two games are no help, either. Milton thrashed once-robust Dallas, 20-0, lost to unbeaten Forest Park, 21-7. Letchas, no "Gloomy Gus," is no help either, seems almost cheerful. But that may be from associating with principal Vic Hansard, the old West Fulton coaching genius.

Letchas has reason to smile, though, when he thinks of quarterback Wilburn Whitt, a Pepper Rogers-ish little guy who gets the job done and completed six of eight passes for 120 yards against Dallas—end John Nesbit nabbing five. End Jimmy Summerour, regular center for two previous years; Gene Lawson, a third-term halfbacking ace; Capt. Marshall Sims, 170-pound tackle, and tackle Jerry Rainwater, 178-pound defensive stickout, are all guys unused to the losing habit.

Roddy Dangar, the squad's "giant" at 195, has been around and will go some at guard, some at tackle. Aubrey Pruitt (145) has shown as much class as any of the guards. Center Wendell Phillips (160) has come fast and released Summerour for end duty.

Whitt, Lawson, Darrell Haney — regular 1955 guard— and Lawrence Burge, who switched from center to fullback, fill the backfield spots. Summerour is doing the punting while incumbent Donald Devore, promising end, is on the injured list. Summerour and Devore kickoff, too.

With Friday night's neighborhood brawl coming up with Roswell at Roswell, the Eagles, whose chief flaw is that they're "hurtin' for team speed," are still a puzzle even to Letchas and Wilson. They hope to solve it, but hope Coach Bill Yoast and Roswell don't.

1956 MILTON ROSTER

ENDS—John Nesbit (150), Jimmy Summerour (170), David Martin (155), Tommy Carruth (158), Donald Devore (165), George Hicks (150).
TACKLES—Marshall Sims, captain (170); Jerry Rainwater (178), Roddy Dangar (195), Byron Burgess (160), Johnny Herron (230).
GUARDS—Aubrey Pruitt (145), Jackie Morton (160), Phillip Smith (145), Ralph Fouts (190).
CENTERS—Wendell Phillips (160), Aubrey Castle (155).

Roberts' Picks

(Home Team Listed in Black Type)

| WINNER | LOSER |
|---|---|

Sylvan Eleven, Roosevelt Face O'Keefe, Murphy

Murphy High's unbeaten Eagles, whose Robby Robinson is the City League's leading scorer with 24 points in two games, and O'Keefe's winless Irish, whose Eddie Loveless leads all passers in ground gained with 286 yards in two outings, find themselves in underdog roles in Thursday night football games here.

Roosevelt's powerful Crimson Tide and Sylvan's Bears, co-favorites for Region 3-AAA's Southern Division title, will be the foes. Murphy will tangle with Roosevelt at Grady Stadium at 7:30, with Sylvan and O'Keefe colliding at Cheney.

Mack Memorial To Be Erected

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26 (AP)—A total of $20,400 has been raised for a memorial to Connie Mack and a bronze statue of the long-time Philadelphia Athletics manager and owner will be erected next year, it was announced today.

Jackson Decisions Bob Baker

Hurricane Gets Split-Verdict

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26 (AP)—Shuffling Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson swarmed all over big Bob Baker in the final rounds with his windmill attack to gain a split decision tonight in a gruelling nationally televised 12-round heavyweight outdoor fight at Forbes Field.

Jackson, a 5-8 underdog, racked up his 28th victory in 34 fights and his second over Baker in seven months. Jackson also won won a split decision over the 29-year-old Pittsburgher in Madison Square Garden on Feb. 3.

Baker weighed 213½; Jackson 195.

Referee Ernie Sesto scored it 7-4-1 for Baker, Judge Al Grayber saw it 6-4-2 for Jackson and Judge George Lupinacci had it 3-4 for Jackson. The AP card had it 6-5-1 for Jackson.

Jubilant in his dressing room, Jackson shouted:

"Now I want a fight with Moore."

Jackson didn't refer to the slated Moore-Patterson bout.

Baker, disconsolate over his second loss to the bouncing hurricane, said:

"I thought I won. I thought it was closer than that. I didn't bother to follow up some of the times I had him stunned."

Root Reacquired By Chi Cardinals

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League today reacquired Jim Root, their No. 1 quarterback in 1953, on waivers from the Cleveland Browns.

Released by the Cards in 1954, Root played Canadian football that year. After an Army hitch, the former Miami of Ohio star signed with the Browns. In 1953, Root ranked ninth in the NFL with 80 completions in 192 passes for 1,149 yards and 8 touchdowns.

FOOTBALL IN BRIEF

SMU Guard Beckett Breaks Nose? Wyatt Slates Light Work for Vols

Compiled From Wire Reports

Bothered by frequent fumbles at first, the backs were soon taking handoffs from quarterbacks Charlie Arnold and Larry Click with finesse. A lengthy dummy scrimmage employing both backfield and linemen ended the session.

SEC—Tennessee coach Bowden Wyatt said Wednesday he will send his Vols through only light workouts Thursday and Friday following a final scrimmage yesterday. . . . Junior halfback Woody Herzog and sophomore fullback Cliff Tribble ran with the first unit as Kentucky primed its offense to meet Ole Miss. Herzog moved ahead of Billy Mitchell and Tribble replaced Bob Dougherty. . . . Halfback Jim Bowdoin and quarterback Clay Walls provided the lone bright spots in Alabama's scrimmage session, each guy getting off nifty touchdown sprints. . . . Ole Miss readied for Kentucky with a light, full-speed drill.

Sub quarterback John Caruso was the lone Tulane player on the doubtful list for Texas, and even he participated in a crisp passing drill. . . . Quarterbacks Harry Spears and Jimmy Dunn came up with what Florida coach Bob Woodruff termed "improved passing." . . . Halfback Phil King rejoined Vanderbilt's squad but the Commodores learned halfback Danny McCall will be an indefinite casualty. . . . All-America candidate Earl Leggett had a sub, huge Jim Lavin, when it was disclosed that Leggett may not be ready for Texas A&M because of a leg injury. . . . Wade Walker continued to emphasize passing—both offense and defense—in preparation for Mississippi State's Houston battle.

OTHERS—Seven sophomores were to be among those in Furman's lineup for George Washington said coach Homer Hobbs. Only senior will be center Bobby Jennings. . . . Both Jim Tatum at North Carolina and neighboring Paul Amen at Wake Forest sent their charges indoors to escape onrushing Flossey. Conditioning was the order of the day. . . . Clemson braved a muddy field for a scrimmage session that put quarterback Charlie Bussey in a stepped-up passing role. . . . Senior tackles Barry Blake and Bill Underwood were named as co-captains by West Virginia for its game with Richmond. . . . No complacency appeared at Navy where the Middies prep for William & Mary, drubbed last week 39-0. Eddie Erdelatz sent the Middies through a rugged defensive scrimmage. . . . Rain hampered North Carolina State's preparations for VPI, but the Staters got in a rain-soaked defensive scrimmage. . . . Guard Al Bansavage and fullback Ray Woodworth stood out for Johnny Sauer's Citadel Bulldogs in a cold drizzle. . . . Meanwhile, foe Davidson was forced to beat a hasty retreat indoors.

Is Harris Through As Detroit's Pilot?

Moves Furniture From Home; Haney Gets Yankee Report

Compiled From Wire Reports

Bucky Harris, manager of the Detroit Tigers for the past two seasons, moved out of his house Wednesday in Detroit, Mich. Harris' future with the Tigers is very uncertain.

The Tigers made their last home appearance in a 4-1 trimming of the Chicago White Sox.

As a moving van pulled up in front of the Harris home in suburban Grosse Pointe Park, Mrs. Harris said her furniture is going "into storage until we know for sure what's up."

Sports in Brief

MORE BASEBALL—Indianapolis (American) and Rochester (International) move into the Junior World Series tonight at Rochester, N.Y., with Duke Markell going for Rochester and either Bud Daley or John Gray for the Indians. . . . Denver (American) traded righthander Gus Kariazakos, former Memphis pitcher, to Columbus for infielders Buddy Carter and outfielder Dick Getter. . . . The Western League scheduled a meeting Sunday to discuss dispensation of the Sioux City franchise, which was plagued with financial troubles all season. . . . New York Giants indicated they would pull their Coosa (Fla.) franchise out of the Class D Florida State League. . . . Milwaukee manager Fred Haney got a scouting report on the New York Yankees but said he was more interested in winning the National League pennant."

FOOTBALL—Ronnie Knox and Harvey Knox jointly announced that Ronnie probably will quit the Canadian professional league Hamilton Ticats because of exploitation of Ronnie. "They just didn't play him enough," said pappa Harvey. "They just used him as a gate attraction." . . . "Stagg Day" in honor of the grand old man of football —Amos Alonzo Stagg—will be observed in all NCAA games Saturday.

MISCELLANEOUS — Alabama and Houston will kickoff the 1956 Sugar Bowl basketball tournament in pairings announced. Kentucky meets VPI in the other game. . . . Suzie Sims, a pert 18-year-old, tried out for the Boston University crew team but was rejected when the fine print in the rule book restricted NCAA competition to males—not females. . . . Another 18-year-old gal, Patricia Peacock, of Stuttgart, Ark., defending duck-calling champion, will seek the goose-calling title from Clarence Faulk of Lake Charles, La. . . . Babe McCoy resigned as matchmaker for the Olympic Auditorium at Los Angeles. . . . Tony Trabert took his first-round match in the Pro Indoor championship at England's Wembley Stadium. . . . Pennsylvania's State Athletic Commission dismissed a citation charging boxing promoter Herman Taylor with actions detrimental to boxing.

CRACKERS

the eighth. The Crackers, who had trailed all the way, pulled even on it and set the overtime stage. Montag, who missed a homer when his drive curved foul by a few feet, waited out a walk, and Bob Boring sacrificed. Then Riddle blooped his hit over second for a 4-4 deadlock.

Memphis, showing a distinct liking for Dick Grabowski's serves, chased the right-hander in the first inning for the second time in three games.

White's walk, followed by Marshall's single and Gip Dickens' double, rang up one run. An out later, Marshall scored on Landis' infield hit. After Snyder walked, so did Grabowski, and Corky Valentine entered. He closed out the inning and rendered competent pitching until departing for a pinch-hitter in the Cracker fifth.

Manager Clyde King's men launched their comeback, which ended in the 15th, with a run in the first on Reynolds' walk and Thorpe's double, the first of three RBIs for Bob.

Landis' single and Koshorek's double rank up a Chick run in the third, and the Crackers wired singles by Sammy Meeks, Frank DiPrima and Thorpe for a marker in their half.

White's second walk and a double by Dickens chalked up another run in the Chick fourth, and the Crackers didn't nick Bill DuFour again until the sixth. Montag's single and Boring's lead double netted the score, but DuFour bailed out with a 4-3 lead.

McMahon came in and slammed the door, and the Crackers finally chased DuFour and caught up on Riddle's hit in the eighth.

The Chicks stranded a staggering total of 22 runners, one shy of the league record, while the Crackers let 15 men perish.

The Crackers landed 19 hits, the Chicks 18. Yet it was a pitcher's duel.

There were countless thrills along the way, but that would require a book. And this is only a story about a Cinderella club.

Scott Leads Qualifying

Qualifying for the eighth annual Southeastern Elks golf tournament will wind up Thursday at Meadowbrooks Country Club.

Ike Scott is leading the early qualifiers with 74, but this score was not expected to stand with such stalwarts as former City champion Pierce Miller and ex-East Lake champ L. B. Roane yet to shoot.

Low 16 and ties will be placed in championship flight for 54 holes of medal play Friday through Sunday. All qualifying above championship will be placed in match play flights.

CLEMSON HERE FRIDAY

Tech Frosh Feature Brantley and James

An impressive array of ex-prep stars will represent Georgia Tech's freshmen when they collide with a strong Clemson frosh team at Grant Field Friday night.

The Techs will put on display two of the prize halfback stars of recent high school history. That would be James-Brantley, the track star from Vidalia, and Calvin James, brother of Auburn's Fob and an alumnus of Baylor prep. Quarterback is a tossup between Fred Braselton, Corpus Christi, Tex., and Jack Baker, Pound, Va.

Mike Biddle of Anniston, Ala., looks like one of the guards, while Emmett Wilson, Rossville, and Tom Roberts, Johnson City, Tenn., head the tackle candidates.

Only absentee from the Clemson game will be tackle Bo Gentry of Memphis, out with a wrenched knee.

these U.S. airliners lead in speed

Turbo Compound Engines

The world's most luxurious airliners — the American-built Douglas DC-7 and Lockheed Super Constellation — are also indisputably the world's fastest. You simply can not travel by commercial airline anywhere in the world faster than on one of these superb aircraft. And just as they are the biggest and the fastest, they are the most comfortable and dependable . . . they are the Turbo Compound® powered airliners.

20% Greater Efficiency

The Curtiss-Wright Turbo Compound engine is world famous for power, speed, range, dependability and economy. It is the most significant contribution to proven powerplant design in over 30 years . . . the ultimate in reciprocating engines. By using power previously wasted in exhaust gases, plus additional jet thrust from exhaust stacks, the Turbo Compound's efficiency is increased 20% to 24%, depending on altitude . . . giving it the highest power-to-weight ratio of any engine of similar size. This all-important 20% means greater speed, longer range, bigger lift capacity, more staying power for non-stop flights of 5000 miles and more — and, over busy airports, "holding" power that lands you at your destination, while aircraft with less range may have to choose an alternate city because fuel is low.

Proven Dependability

Turbo Compounds have been proven by 23 billion seat miles in commercial service, with a perfect safety record. They have been selected by 41 of the world's leading airlines. Future schedules provide for over 100 million seat miles per day to be flown in luxury transports powered by the Turbo Compound. Today's leading transport engine, it will be a major factor in commercial air transportation for years to come.

Thrower Opens HQ, Predicting He'll Win

Declaring that "I expect to win," Republican Congressional candidate Randolph Thrower opened campaign headquarters at 136 Peachtree St., NE, Wednesday.

The candidate said his election would give this area a voice in Republican Party policies.

He also continued his attacks on the county unit system. "The present congressman is one of the strongest supporters of the county unit system—the very system which has disenfranchised this area," he asserted.

"I believe this election will be determined by the people of this district and not by the one-party advocates of the state administration," Thrower continued.

The Republican said he would wage a "straight" campaign, trying to meet as many people of the district as possible and avoiding personal attacks on incumbent James C. Davis. He added, however, that Davis "is standing on his record. We'll certainly examine that."

Thrower said he believed he would receive a sizable vote from Democrats. "I know people vote 'against,'" he said, but "I want them to vote 'for' positive things to be achieved in this district."

Asked whether he would make a special effort to capture the Negro vote in the district, he replied, "I'm going to appeal to all the voters." He added that "it would be unfortunate to make an issue" of segregation.

Thrower said there is an increasing trend in the Southeast to elect Republican Congressmen. Southerners in GOP councils add "balance" in forming party policies, he declared.

The GOP candidate said Republicans will hold a fund-raising dinner at the Biltmore Hotel next Wednesday.

McManus Speaker

Clifford B. McManus, president of The Southern Co., will speak at the 12:15 p.m. Friday meeting of the Atlanta Lions Club at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel. His subject will be "Industrial Growth in the Southeast."

Taller-Buildings Amendment Ordered To Cover Peachtree Road Applications

By CHARLES MOORE

The staff of the City-Council Joint Planning Board was asked Wednesday to draw up an amendment to the zoning ordinance that would permit changes in building height regulations with the issuance of special permits.

This would permit the establishment of multi-story buildings outside the downtown areas without zoning changes, City Planning Engineer W. B. Bean said.

The board also asked the staff to draw up regulations that would cover the expansion of day nurseries in essentially residential neighborhoods.

The board proposed an ordinance that would permit the issuance of special permits to developers who would be required to follow planning recommendations for tall buildings outside their currently zoned area.

Touching off the proposed ordinance were the requests of two organizations who wish to build five- and eight-story buildings on Peachtree road.

S. H. Hemphill and associates asked the board to rezone a 350 by 400 foot tract on the northeast side of Peachtree road about 350 feet north of Peachtree Dunwoody roads from R-3 (residential) and A-1 to A-2 (apartment).

A planning board member said Hemphill plans a 100-foot tall apartment building to cost about $2.5 million. "This man wants to build a fine building here and I think we ought to help him all we can," said member Sam Young.

Speaking against the zoning change, George R. Rice said he is wholeheartedly in favor of development but noted multi-story buildings present a heavy demand on all types of services supplied by the city.

"Peachtree road can't carry the load" of additional traffic this building would bring, he said, nor can the city adequately supply services without difficulty if the population density is increased all along Peachtree.

The other multi-story building is proposed by I. M. Sheffield, who asked for rezoning from C-2 to C-3 (commercial) in order to build a five-story plus penthouse doctor's building beside the new Piedmont Hospital on Peachtree road.

Action on both requests was deferred.

Uniform requirements for the operation of day nurseries was asked after a board member pointed out that the city has never imposed restrictions on their growth.

The planning board staff will confer with school, health department and fire department officials to draw up requirements that day nurseries must meet before they receive special permits.

The application of John C. Sills to operate a 50-child capacity nursery on Sandtown road, SW, pointed out the need for uniform requirements, board member A. G. Hendley said, as nurseries continue to expand in residential areas.

It's a problem that must be solved, said Board Chairman Max Cuba, in view of the need of nurseries by families where both parents work.

DeKalb Teachers Vote U.S. Benefits

DeKalb County teachers voted overwhelmingly to participate in Social Security coverage, School Supt. Jim Cherry said Wednesday. Over 700 of the approximately 800 eligible teachers approved the coverage, he said.

DeKalb is the first county board of education in the state to vote on Social Security benefits since the legislative act authorizing such coverage was enacted.

Coverage is retroactive from Sept. 1 now that the plan has been adopted. Teachers will get retirement funds from both the Social Security and teacher retirement program.

Mother To Plead Insane in Slaying

A special plea of insanity will be filed in Fulton Superior Court on behalf of an Atlanta mother accused of the Sept. 3 strangling of her four-year-old son, her defense attorneys said Wednesday.

Attorneys Al Jennings and James R. Venable said they are preparing the plea on behalf of Mrs. Doris Loraine Reese Freck, 35, of 1396 Avon Ave., SW, who is charged with murder in the slaying of her son, Dwight.

The attorneys said the plea would bring out that a physician for Mrs. Freck had previously recommended that she be committed to a mental institution.

U.S. Vote Puts Egypt Plea on UN Agenda

Union, Nationalist China, Cuba, Iran, Peru, and Yugoslavia.

However, the council will take up the British-French complaint, which accuses Egypt of unlateral action in ending international operation of the canal, and indirectly of violating the Constantinople convention of 1888, before it debates the countercomplaint.

This resulted from the defeat of a Yugoslav motion that the council debate concurrently the British-French complaint, which had been placed on the agenda unanimously, and the Egyptian countercomplaint. The Soviet Union, which had originally proposed that the countercomplaint have priority, supported the Yugoslav proposal but all the other members of the council voted against or abstained.

Under normal council procedure, it debates items in the order in which they were submitted; the British-French complaint was filed Sunday, and Egypt replied the next day.

As required by the charter, the council agreed unanimously to a British-French proposal that it invite Egypt to take part without a vote, when the debate on the merits of the question begins next week. However, it declined, as proposed by Australia, to postpone action until its next meeting on Israel's request for the same privilege.

Associated Press Wirephoto
GIVES EGYPT VOICE
Henry Cabot Lodge

The request was made this morning in a letter from Abba Eban, the Israeli representative, who said that Israel had a "special interest" deriving "from the restrictions imposed by Egypt on the passage of Israeli goods and shipping through the Suez Canal, which violate the central principle of the international convention (of 1888) under which the canal has operated."

Although British circles expressed satisfaction with the results of today's meeting, the failure of the United States to join Britain and France in opposing acceptance of the Egyptian wording caused general surprise.

However, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of the United States told the council that this did not mean that the United States agreed with the Egyptian contention that Britain and France had acted in any way "inconsistent with their obligations under the United Nations charter."

Lodge explained that in earlier years the United States had voted in favor of council debate on four "preposterous and fallacious" Communist charges against the United States, and had followed "a generally liberal policy" on the inclusion of items on the agenda.

However, the failure of the United States to side with its principal allies aroused speculation about still further changes in Dulles' policy. The watering-down of the "users' association" plan at the second London conference on Suez has produced criticisms of Dulles in both Britain and France.

Chrysler To Build $3 Million Tenn. Plant

MEMPHIS, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Chrysler Corp. will build a three-million dollar personnel training center here within the next year or 18 months, an official of the company said today.

Byron J. Nichols, vice president and general sales manager of the Dodge Division, said the center would offer training facilities for dealers, salesmen, mechanics and other personnel. The company, Nichols said, already has completed a training plant in Detroit and 18 others are scheduled to be constructed in cities throughout the country.

City To Help Handle Military Traffic

Atlanta has been chosen as the location of one of five regional offices that will handle all domestic military traffic under a recently announced Unified Transportation Administration, the Army announced Wednesday in Washington.

The Atlanta UTA office, which will employ 82 civilians and 12 military personnel, will become operative Oct. 1 along with offices at St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Dallas and San Francisco.

The Defense Dept. designated the Army to administer the system, which will take over arrangements for movement of military personnel within the United States.

Half His Pay Check Has Gone Up in Fuzz

By MARJORY SMITH

OVERHEARD ON ESCALATOR: "My wife spent half my week's salary on one of those new big, fuzzy hats. You should see it—looks like something crawled up on her head and died there!"

LIONEWS' DEFINITION of "oratory:" "The art of making deep noises from the chest sound like important messages from the brain."

ONE HAPPILY SURPRISED ATLANTA MALE will be wearing a brand-new tuxedo to his first formal affair of the season — and a less fortunate one will have to make his threadbare old evening clothes "do."

That's the result of a slight error made the other day by a Junior Leaguer who bundled up the wrong package to take to the League's Nearly New Shop.

The Tenth street shop—operated by League volunteers who hawk slightly used articles on consignment for benefit of a community fund that helps support such organizations as the School for Speech Correction and Egleston Hospital — sold contents of the package soon after it went on the display hanger. The seller was happily surprised by the size of her percentage of the sale until she discovered she had sold not hubby's old tux but the one fresh from the tailor.

Nearly New Shop workers urge you not to make that mistake. But they'd like to help your church or civic group—or yourself—earn some money. They may be able to sell your white elephants. You get 60 per cent; League charities 40 per cent. Articles will be accepted for consignment each Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at 113 Tenth St., NE.

National Honor and $500 Go To NFA Youth From Millen

Elbert Lane, 20-year-old member of the New Farmers of America Chapter at Millen, Tuesday night was named winner of the NFA's National Star Superior Farmer Award.

Young Lane has four brothers who left the home farm near Millen, but he decided to stay. He and his father later entered into a partnership on the 345-acre farm. They successfully operate a general farm which produces cotton, corn, tobacco, hogs and dairy cows.

Sectional winners of the superior farmer awards were Glenn W. Miles Jr., Haskell, Okla., and Clifton Hill Jr., Criglersville, Va. They were presented $250 cash.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Marvin Roundtree of Elm City, N.C., was elected president of NFA at an afternoon session. Other new officers are:

HAHIRA WINNER

Another Georgia winner at the convention was Edward J. Lucas, Rte. 2, Hahira, who won the sectional award in the H. O. Sargent contest. The H. O. Sargent Award is made annually to the most successful young Negro farmer who is a former student of vocational agriculture and who has been out of school not more than 10 years.

The national first-place winner of the Sargent Award, which includes a $500 check, was Robert Bickham of Franklinton, La. Zam Withrow, Boiling Springs, N.C., won the other sectional prize.

George M. Carter of Emporia, Va., won first-place ($100) in the National Farm and Home improvement contest. Sectional prizes of $50 went to Theo Pruitt Jr., of Athens, Tex., and David Buford Jr., of Hendersonville, Tenn.

DAIRY AWARDS

The $100 National Dairy Farming Award was won by Stanley Brumfield of Kentwood, La. Sectional prizes of $50 went to Joe L. Arrington of Union Hall, Va., and Edward M. Saulsby of Lake City, Fla.

President Failing To Lead Nation, Stevenson Asserts

tion — what he bluntly called Eisenhower's failure to lead the nation and to lead the Republican party.

"If the President of the United States does not lead," he declared, "our system cannot work effectively and every American citizen will suffer.

"When the President is weak and when he does not fight relentlessly for the public welfare, then the cause of public welfare loses its great champion."

"Politics," he continued, "like nature, abhors a vacuum. When the public interest moves out of the White House, the private interests move in. But when the President is strong there is no limit to what America can be."

The Democratic Party, he noted, believes in the tradition of a strong president and has had a series of strong presidents. The Republican Party, he said, in the past has believed in weak presidents.

"And what has been true in the past by and large has never been more true than today," he said.

Stevenson said the question he was discussing had nothing to do with Eisenhower's health.

Stevenson charged that when "national leadership moves out of the White House special interests move in." The President's leadership has been so weak, Stevenson suggested, that many people have wondered how much President Eisenhower has to do with the Eisenhower administration.

"Sometimes," he said, "the President seemed to wonder himself." Stevenson ran down what he called the record of Mr. Eisenhower's failure to lead. The Republican Congress in 1953 and 1954, he said, "tore the Republican president's state of the union message into little bits and pieces and scattered them to the winds."

SILENT VIGIL

"The President watched in silence," Stevenson commented.

He charged that the President had permitted Republican Senate leader Knowland (Calif.) to carry on "his personal and belligerent foreign policy" and that he permitted Sen. McCarthy (Wis.) to conduct "unhampered his career as national bully."

Fortunately, Stevenson said, the voters put the Democrats into control of Congress in 1954 "and they helped him get things done."

"He ought to be out today campaigning for a Democratic congress," Stevenson said.

Stevenson did not confine his indictment to Republicans in Congress. He said that "the President has had just as much trouble with the men he appointed to lead his own administration."

"A typical scene in the last four years," he said, "has been the president's efforts to repair the damage done by his own lieutenants—the farm policies of Mr. Benson, the foreign policies of Mr. Dulles, the conservation policies of Mr. McKay, the defense policies of Mr. Wilson, the monetary policies of Mr. Humphrey."

"The more trouble his cabinet members cause," Stevenson added with asperity, "the more they evidently grow in the admiration and affection of the President.

"It is as if the hero in an old-time melodrama, having set forth to rescue the girl who was tied to the railroad track, suddenly paused in order to give the culprits a raise."

SAYS PARITY VOW BROKEN

Speaking earlier at Jacksonville, Fla., Stevenson implied that the President had failed to keep his pledge to sustain 90 per cent farm parity price supports and to seek to give the farmer full 100 per cent parity.

Stevenson again ragged Eisenhower about his secretary of agriculture, Ezra Benson, who is somewhat less than popular in many farm belt areas.

Declaring that Eisenhower's address was notable for its omissions, Stevenson said: "He proposed no new program for agriculture. He didn't even mention his secretary of agriculture.

"Does he really think he can keep Ezra Benson secret until November?"

He charged the administration with "playing politics" with the soil bank system in order to "pour money into the farm belt before election, with huge sums of the taxpayers' money."

Probers Hear Details of Integration Incidents

chairman, James C. Davis (D-Ga), a telegram congratulating his group and its counsel, William Gerber of Nashville, Tenn.

Rep. Wier (D-Minn) had asked as a member of the parent committee that McMillan call a meeting to consider halting the investigation. Wier accused Gerber of a "disgraceful performance."

McMillan in effect rejected Wier's demand by saying he never knew an investigation group "that made a greater effort to secure the actual facts and at the same time extend courtesy and respect to every witness."

HITS AT "SOURCES"

He said it was obvious in advance that the hearings would draw attacks from "certain sources" which he did not identify.

Miss Boyle said her testimony referred to a general situation involving the "touching" in school corridors of both white and Negro girls.

She said the problem was one of "touching certain areas that one does not expect to be touched in public."

Asked what portions of the body were touched, she replied, "I prefer that you use your own imagination."

Miss Margaret Moore, principal of Cook Elementary School, was asked about reports that girls' dresses had been "picked up" outside the school. She said there had been instances "even worse than that," but she did not elaborate.

Like most of the other witnesses Miss Moore said she believes Washington schools should have been integrated over a longer period of time. But she said integration was the right course in the long run.

CLASS SHOCKED

Mrs. Miriam L. Beall, a teacher at Roosevelt High School, reported that one Negro girl newly assigned to a class of white girls "publicly announced she was an unwed mother.

"This shocked all the girls in the class," Mrs. Beall said. "Evidently the colored girl did not attach any stigma to her status."

Another teacher, Mrs. Marjorie W. Nelson, said a Negro girl at McFarland Junior High School kept telling her girl classmates stories which "had a tendency to degrade the white girls."

BAD LANGUAGE USED

Mrs. Nelson said under questioning that the stories "concerned marital relationships." She said they should not be repeated at the hearing.

Mrs. Beall, who reported a four-fold post-integration increase in disciplinary problems at Roosevelt, was asked about the use of obscene language in school.

She said that for the first time she heard such language after integration and found it written "on my bulletin boards and on posters."

Mrs. Beall and some other witnesses related that the achievement levels of their students declined after integration.

Grounded B52s Get Wings Back

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Air Force today lifted the general order that grounded all B52s after a fatal crash on Sept. 17. It directed that each of the big jet bombers must undergo a "rigid inspection."

The all jet nuclear bomb carriers were officially grounded the day after one crashed near Madera, Calif., killing five crew members.

Army Taking New Bids In Lanier Lease Dispute

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is taking new bids for the lease of a Lake Lanier recreation site that an Atlantan had charged was denied him for "political reasons." The closing date for the bids is scheduled for Oct. 4—almost a month before three corps officials must show cause why the Atlantan's petition for injunctive relief should not be granted.

Col. Harold E. Bisbort, Mobile, Ala., district engineer for the corps, announced that bids under the "new invitation" will be received at 2301 Grant St., Mobile, until 11 a.m. (CST) on Oct. 4.

He said "Bids previously received did not contain sufficient information to enable the corps to evaluate them accruately enough to make certain the awards would go to the highest responsible bidder."

J. W. Beachem, an Atlanta investment firm executive, charged in a federal suit filed here Sept. 17 that his "high" bid for lease of the 22.6-acre Big Creek site near Buford was rejected for "political reasons." He asked that the corps be restrained from action regarding the site pending final adjudication.

U.S. District Judge Frank A. Hooper has ordered the corps to "show cause" at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 1 as to why Beachem's petition should not be granted.

Brig. Gen. Henry J. Hoeffer, division engineer of the corps' South Atlantic Division — along with Col. Bisbort and Lt. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgess, chief engineer of the corps—a defendant in Beachem's suit, has termed the Atlantan's charges "so absurd and ridiculous as not to merit the dignity of denial."

23 Members of Tech Faculty Win Promotions

Promotions for 23 Tech faculty members were announced Wednesday by Dr. Paul Weber, acting president.

Heading the list is Dr. Waldemar T. Ziegler, who has been named Regents Professor of Chemical Engineering, the highest honor which can be conferred upon a faculty member.

Other promotions include six professorships, seven associate professorships, seven assistant professorships, and two research associate professorships.

Dr. Ziegler who is a member of the faculty of the School of Chemical Engineering and research staff of the Engineering Experiment station, has served on the Tech faculty since 1946.

Prior to coming to Tech, Dr. Ziegler worked with the Manhattan Project on the atomic bomb. His research here has been in the field of cryogenics, extremely low temperatures. A graduate of College Park High School, he holds degrees from Georgia Tech, Emory, and Johns Hopkins University.

Those promoted from assistant to associate professor are Prof. Winfield A. Brooks, Dr. Jack K. Carlton, Dr. Bertram M. Drucker, Dr. Harold A. Gersch, Dr. George Hendricks, Dr. Marion L. Meeks and Dr. Karl M. Murphy.

Devout Life Is the Only Happy One

QUESTION: I have been told that there is no happiness without being a Christian. As a young person, I am finding my happiness in wonderful friends, amusements and in wholesome activity. I sometimes think I should be a Christian and go to church, but many of the folks I find there are not as happy as I am. Their religion makes them sad and without the fun of life. Is this a part of the Christian life. S. S. E.

ANSWER: True Christianity is seldom found in any one person or even in a group. If certain qualities are present, frequently others are absent. There are many who actually believe that joy and happiness are worldly, while others seek only for the good time.

The Christian life is the only genuinely happy life, for the happiness and joy of the Christian does not depend upon circumstances. You said that you found yours all in such thing as friends, amusements and wholesome recreation. But soon these will fail to provide your joy. Any happiness based on circumstances can quickly change. Only when our joy is founded upon an unchanging person and upon an unfailing love can it endure.

Certainly you are not so foolish as to think that your joy will last. Seek the joy that comes from surrender to Christ, and you will have something that will abide through changing conditions and circumstances.

Germans Will Dine On American Turkey

BONN, Germany, Sept. 26 (UP)—West Germans will eat their first American-raised Christmas turkeys this year, the government announced.

The food ministry said $1,190,000 worth of turkeys, chickens, ducks and chicken livers have been bought in the United States for the Christmas trade. This is the first time Germany has imported American birds for Christmas, the ministry said.

Lodge Gets Liquor Permit Opposed by City Attorney

The aldermanic police committee voted Wednesday to issue a beer-wine-liquor license to the new Moose Lodge on West Peachtree street, NE, despite an opinion by a city attorney that the action is contrary to existing ordinances.

City Atty. Henry Bowden said the lodge, which recently moved into its new building at 1362 West Peachtree St., NE, is not eligible for the permit because it is within 600 feet "as the crow flies" of the Spring Street School, contrary to city ordinance.

Aldermen Ed A. Gilliam, Johr T. Marler and Ralph Huie voted to issue the permit which they specified must be marked "for sales to members only."

The city attorney recommended that the councilmen hold up approval of the license and ask the full city council to amend the ordinance that prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages within 600 feet of a school or church "as the crow flies."

Police Lt. J. J. Masters reported the Moose building was 420 feet from the school—in a direct line—but several hundred more measured along the street.

In other business, the committee:

Sent to the full council an ordinance that would outlaw the "unauthorized" use of a police radio in a car within the city limits.

Read a letter from city traffic engineer Karl A. Bevins in which he said highway officials feel the use of mirrors on the entrance ramps of the Expressway would create more problems than they would solve.

Teacher Fund Is Sequestered To Foil AFL

from the union" because it has not integrated with Negro teachers.

Miss Melville Doughty, a director, had questioned the transfer of "so large an amount." The national union at first voted to expel the local here on August 25, but later deferred the expulsion date until Dec. 31, 1956.

AIRING NEXT MONTH

In the meantime, it appeared certain that Miss Sampley's complaint about the fund will be aired at a general meeting of the teachers' association set for 3:45 p.m. Oct. 8 at the Henry Grady High school. Board of Education President Devereaux F. McClatchey said late Wednesday night that he will file with the board "for whatever action it sees fit" a protest from Miss Sampley regarding her transfer.

Miss Sampley wrote a protest to members of the board, in which she said she did not question the right of "the schools to transfer me at will." She asked, however, "that the effectiveness of my work in the schools be considered."

DENY KNOWLEDGE

Miss Ira Jarrell, superintendent, and Dr. G. Y. Smith, who ordered the transfer, said Miss Sampley was transferred without knowledge of her protest regarding the "legislative fund." They added Brown was "overstaffed while Smith needed additional teachers."

Smith also said he transferred 175 teachers before Sept. 1 to meet school population shifts and other problems and that another 31 had been transferred since that time. He also asserted Miss Sampley had asked for a leave of absence to teach in the Air Corps in Europe for the present school year, and that when she was not selected, she asked reinstatement. He said she was reinstated and sent back to Smith, but that when the Joel Chandler Harris low rent housing project was not occupied by school's opening as had been expected, this left Brown overstaffed and Smith understaffed and required a transfer.

Derthick said in answer to Miss Sampley's contention that the transfer had ousted her as a member of the executive committee that she would have full access to the floor of association meetings regardless of where she teaches. He said he will rest his case "with the teachers, who ordered this transfer of funds." The association president said a legislative fund has been set up since Miss Allie Mann was president of the group in the early 1930s. Over the years, Derthick said, the funds have been expanded to "buy copies of bills affecting education in the legislature, to buy voters' registration lists, to help finance luncheons for political candidates and other purposes."

Miss Sampley Wednesday night said she had no comment on the matter other than what she already had said.

Miss Sampley has taught at Brown about 4½ years. She is the daughter of the Rev. Roy C. Sampley, retired.

Postmen's Biscuits Don't Charm All Dogs

Incomplete reports on experiments here in bribing dogs not to bite postmen indicate the dog-biscuit gambit is "somewhat succesful, but not very much."

That was the reaction here Wednesday of W. C. Pennington, assistant superintendent of delivery and collections for the Atlanta Post Office. Pennington based his reaction on "verbal reports" and the official reports of three of the 11 Atlanta postal stations participating in the month-long experiment.

The local postmen were issued dog biscuits as part of the Post Office Dept.'s latest maneuver to determine the best methods for handling unfriendly canines.

Postmen serving the Grant Park area reported the attitudes of two dogs "much improved" following biscuit bribes. Another dog was reported "so dangerous the carrier didn't try to give him a biscuit." A fourth dog "wouldn't eat" the biscuit and the belabored postman is "still afraid" of the animal.

The Memphis, Tenn., post office was reported Wednesday to have abandoned the scheme as a "dismal flop."

Apples Plentiful For Harvest Time

By YOLANDE GWIN

Apples and autumn are synonymous. Now that harvest time is here, fall festivals will be under way and the choice items on the shopping lists will be apples.

The fruit counters are filled with all varieties, according to Mrs. Betty R. Alexander, consumer information specialist, and although they are available the year around, the most plentiful supplies are from September through April.

From now on, she pointed out, there will be larger and larger supplies, plus additional varieties.

Mrs. Alexander also points out that the apple crop will be smaller this year than in 1955, caused by weather conditions. In fact, it will be the smallest crop since 1948. Generally, food shoppers can expect to pay slightly more for apples this fall and winter than they did in 1955.

There will be high quality Red Delicious for eating out-of-hand, Wealthys for cooking, and Jonathans for general use.

PEARS IN GOOD SUPPLY

Also on the fruit counter, pears remain in good supply and the price is good. Grapes are increasing in supply while banana and lemon supplies are adequate to meet the demand and priced about the same as last week. Italian prune plums and honeydews are good values this week, so look for specials in these.

This harvest season also brings the return of many vegetables. Cabbage, America's No. 2 vegetable in quantity consumed, will be in bountiful supply. Creamy cauliflower is of good quality and the price by head or pound is attractive to the shopper.

Turnip greens, mustard greens, collards and Irish potatoes are plentiful and attractively priced. The quality and the quantity of sweet potatoes will be noticeable.

MEAT SITUATION

There is little change in the meat situation this week. Cured beef remains generally high. For the economy wise consumer, baby beef remains the choice. Another economical buy will be the variety meats. Pork values will be found in smoked picnics hams, boston butts, fresh picnic shoulder and bacon.

Fryers—whole, halves or parts either fresh or frozen—offer excellent values. Medium eggs are in good supply and are the most economical—on a price-per-pound basis.

On the abundant list for weekend shoppers are rice and tuna.

GFWC Sets Workshop On Oct. 4

Workshops conducted by department chairmen will be a highlight of the fall board meeting of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

The meeting, which will be attended by clubwomen from throughout Georgia, will be held at the Henry Grady Hotel Thursday, Oct. 4.

Mrs. Mamie K. Taylor, GFWC president, will preside. The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 1 p.m.

During the business session, the budget and scholarship plan for Tallulah Falls School will be discussed. New awards for club and individual community service will be announced.

TWO OTHER EVENTS

All members of federated clubs are invited to attend two other important events in connection with the federation board meeting.

Mrs. R. C. Fryer, president of the federation-owned Tallulah Falls School, will be hostess at the trustees dinner on Wednesday evening, Oct. 3, at 6 p.m. at the Henry Grady Hotel.

At the dinner, clubwomen will be familiarized with the needs and accomplishments of the school, which has been recognized as the outstanding education project in the entire General Federation of Women's Clubs.

NEWS CLINIC

Following the Thursday workshop session, clubwomen will be luncheon guests of the Georgia Press Assn. at the Georgia State College of Business Administration, and from 2:30 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. they will attend a news clinic for clubwomen.

Conducted by editors of leading daily and weekly newspapers, the clinic is designed to acquaint communications and publicity chairmen with proper methods of preparing and reporting club news. Sessions at the clinic will be devoted to problems of publicity committees.

CHAIRMEN

The department and committee chairmen conducting the workshops at the Oct. 4 morning session will be Mrs. James S. Tankersley Jr. of Ellijay, chairman of the communications department; Mrs. Alton B. Roberts, Lithonia, community affairs; Mrs. Chester Martin, Atlanta, conservation of natural resources; Mrs. Bruce Schaefer, Toccoa, education; Mrs. Lamar Hailey, Hartwell, fine arts; Mrs. Frank Hay, Dallas, home; Miss Mary Miller, Brunswick, international affairs; Mrs. S. M. Hay, Covington, public affairs; Mrs. R. C. Melton, Atlanta, mental health, and Mrs. Henry Toombs, Atlanta, youth service.

Background information on resolutions passed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Georgia Federation will be given by Mrs. H. B. Ritchie of Athens, policy chairman of the General Federation; Mrs. Harold Willingham of Marietta, resolutions chairman, and Mrs. Charles Inman of Marietta, legislation chairman.

They also will outline specific areas of legislation the Georgia Federation will support.

Women CD Leaders Plan 2nd Workshop

Women leaders in civil defense are starting a second Workshop Thursday, Sept. 27, in Americus at Georgia Southwestern College.

Women from 37 counties in south and southwest Georgia will get instruction in teaching the basic course for civil defense. Dr. Robert Pendergrass will speak to the group on "Andersonville."

What's New in Foods

Easy Full Meals on the Way

BY JEANNE HIGGINS DEAVER
Constitution Food Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 26—Hold on to your can openers, folks. If you are interested in convenience foods you haven't seen anything, yet.

Predictions for the future are enough to knock the housewife off the kitchen stool as they are tossed out to the nation's newspaper food editors meeting here this week.

William B. Murphy, president of the Campbell Soup Co., predicted that within the next 10 years almost every popular dish, whether it be first course, entree, vegetable or dessert, will be available in prepared or semi-prepared form.

READY TO EAT

Most of the foods generally avoided because of difficulty in making or the time involved will be bought ,ready to eat. (Think of it—baked Alaskas, Chicken Tetrazzini, custard pie or bouillabaisse.)

There will be complete dinners from soup to dessert which can be prepared by simply popping into the oven, and they will be available in sizes for one person or a group.

A good tossed vegetable salad and a fluffy cheese souffle will always be made at home, so an interested housewife need not fear for the loss of opportunity for ingenuity in the kitchen.

EVERY MEAL EXCELLENT

But much of the tedious work and long hours will be unnecessary. The housewife will be able to serve an excellent meal every meal of the day when she previously could not have spared the time.

More is being learned every day about which foods should be frozen and which are best preserved by heat process.

And according to Mr. Murphy, experimentation is going on now to determine more exactly the psychological effect of foods on general well-being and the effect of odor, flavor and color and attractiveness of foods in digestion.

THE NEAR FUTURE

All of these things will affect food of the future—the near future.

Women still like to mark a meal with their personal touch, according to John N. Fulham Jr., president of Fulham Brothers, Inc., producers of Four Fishermen brand fish sticks.

Mr. Fulham proved his interest in this point by bringing to the food editors several new regional American and foreign inspired recipes for using fish sticks. They include fish sticks Italienne, fish sticks Monterrey, fish sticks Hawaiian, and fish stick Indienne.

They are good and easy to prepare, but they also are good and elegant to serve.

QUICK GET-AWAYS

The Sunkist Growers of California brought news of meaty, seedless and plentiful oranges in the year ahead. They also had suggestions of welcome ways to use the California fruit for breakfast to aid in those quick get-aways in the morning.

To prepare an orange in a hurry, for instance, just cut it into half, almost to the bottom of the fruit. Then cut it into half again, forming quarters, and finally into eighths.

Pull each section out, forming a flower-like shape. Drop a cluster of frosted grapes in the center. Then pull the sections apart to eat them—one at a time.

Another delicacy introduced here, which fits beautifully with an appetite for oranges, was a quick recipe for lemon nut bread. The nut bread can be made in quantities and saved almost a week because it keeps so well.

A highlight of the food editors conference was an exclusive briefing session on world-wide food and health conditions and developments given by Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, U.S. representative on the United Nations Human Rights Commission.

Mrs. Lord, who has traveled 100,000 miles through foreign lands, spoke about "The United Nations and People." She emphasized the opportunities which the U.N. gives the United States and other countries to help people throughout the world abolish poverty, hunger, disease and illiteracy, and that accomplishments in these areas make peace in the world more secure.

ATOMIC SPECIALIST

Dr. R. A. Silow, British atomic energy specialist to the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, spoke on the vitally important role atomic energy can play in the development of agriculture and improvement of food products in all countries of the world.

Dr. Silow explained that FAO is embarking upon a program for promoting the application of atomic energy in agriculture.

BALENCIAGA'S jersey tunic will be one of the custumes presented when an Atlanta department store dramatizes Paris Originals vs. American Adaptations. The fashion show-tea, to be held at 3:30 p.m. Friday, will give Atlantans an opportunity to see many Paris originals borrowed for this occasion. For further information call WA. 5050, Ext. 394.

Tobe Says

Violet Reappears On Fashion Scene

Color surprise of the Paris openings was the reappearance of violet—launched in an almost violent way by Lanvin-Castilla, but present in most other collections as well. Yet it is not really surprising to those of us who study fashion, as the whole range of mauve to violet to deep purple was so prevalent in the 1912 era.

Violet is a wonderful color in wools—against the frosty winter scene. And in all its variations from pale mauve to amethyst it looks new and beautiful in chiffons and satins and velvets for evening.

Are Hundreds In Same Boat?

A lady with whom I have a pleasant and profitable chat now and then (she told me how to refurbish limp crinolines the other day!) called to complain that Atlanta has no Woman's Exchange.

She had noticed the lack of this particular service because her mother is a gifted needlewoman, would like to supplement her income and has no place to sell her work except an occasional receptive little gift show where the consignment percentages are prohibitive. She imagines—and rightly, I believe—that there are hundreds of women in Atlanta in the same boat.

Why, she asks, not start a Woman's Exchange here?

The Woman's Exchange movement, although pretty general over the country half a century ago, is something on which I had next to no information. Since Macon has had a flourishing exchange I wrote to Mrs. Piercy Chestney, a longtime outstanding citizen, and asked for information.

"It is interesting that it has just been announced that the Woman's Exchange in Macon is now a thing of the past as of Saturday," Mrs. Chestney replied. "That is, in many of its functions. The last owner has moved into an apartment, is still to take orders, but will have nothing for sale. However, that way of running the business will still prove of benefit to 'nice ladies.' "

(You remember, there was a period in history when "nice ladies" couldn't publicly earn a living.)

The exchange was founded in Macon many years ago by Miss Annie Napier, Mrs. Chestney reported, and several of her close friends supported her in the venture, taking turns at the shop, contributing things for sale. One gave embroidery lessons and others, she said, "stood ready to teach other arts."

"On becoming a member one paid a fee of $1 plus 10 per cent of sales—the $1 being annual membership dues. Members remained anonymous—for several reasons. They did not wish anyone to know they worked for money; the exchange did not want the members known as then the customer might go direct to the member thinking to get a lower price on the work. It was a short of unwritten law that when you became a member you kept your membership secret."

Later the dues went up to $1.50 a year and the percentage to 15.

"I was married in July," she said, "and being without any funds of my own and bearing in mind the old joke that husbands always pay for their own Christmas presents I joined the exchange to make enough to pay for the gift I gave mine. And proud I was. During the years I was a member I made two layettes at $1,000 each. I do not mean I got the thousand but that was the total cost of each. That will give you some idea of the extent of the operation.

"Also the exchange did such things as having baby caps laundered—sent them to a place in New Orleans—they came back looking new. The person having the work done paid for the work, the postage and insurance and a per centage to the exchange."

Maybe we don't have enough baby caps to support an exchange nowadays but there must be other services to make it worthwhile. For instance, that crinoline renewal recipe . . . I bet my friend will cheerfully give it to anybody who is interested in opening an exchange in Atlanta.

Prince of Wales Tray To Make Debut Here

When Mrs. George Connell entertains at a coffee today for bride-elect Jane Yost, she will "christen" a handsome Old English silver tray which recently came into the possession of Mrs. MacGregor Flanders who will assist at the party.

It begins back in the days when Mr. Flanders, known as Mac, spent his summers in Toronto, Canada, sailing with his uncle, the late James P. MacGregor, on the latter's yacht, the Nutmeg. The tray was one of the trophies won by the Nutmeg while Mac was aboard. It was contributed by the Duke of Windsor, then the Prince of Wales, to the Royal Canadian Yacht Club and bears the club crest. It is inscribed "Nutmeg's Prince of Wales Cup."

When Mr. and Mrs. Flanders and their children, Betsy and Greg, were vacationing in Toronto last month, Mac's aunt, Mrs. MacGregor, who often visited them here before they moved to Carrollton, presented them the tray.

THE THIRD SON, born Sept. 22 at Emory Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. James M. Sibley, has been named Quintus Whittaker. Mrs. Sibley is the former Karen Norris.

MRS. FRITZ ORR JR., who brought her small son, Fritz III, for his first visit to his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Orr Sr. on Nancy's Creek road, left Tuesday for a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Quarles at Haleyville, Ala.

After a week there she and the baby will return to Killeen, Tex., where Lt. Orr is on Army duty at Ft. Hood.

MR. AND MRS. FRANCIS C. BRAGG and Mrs. Blake R. Van Leer are just back from an Eastern motor trip of several weeks. While the Braggs went on to Foxboro, Mass., to visit their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. David Bragg. Mrs. Van Leer stopped at East Greenwich, R.I., for a week with her daughter, Mrs. Blake Wayne Van Leer, and the latter's children, Wayne, Maryanne and Blake R.

Lt. Van Leer is at present the officer in charge of Navy construction at Cape Hatteras.

Later Mrs. Van Leer visited Dr. Elizabeth Van Buskirk, head of the Romance language department at Elmira College, Elmira, N.Y., and, incidentally, the national president of Mrs. Van Leer's sorority, Alpha Xi Delta. After a week in Syracuse, the Braggs picked her up and they drove home over the Virginia-North Carolina Parkway.

MRS. JOHN K. OTTLEY III and her small son, John IV, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Ottley Jr. on Blackland road, leave today for a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bolan Glover in Marietta.

Lt. Ottley, who is at Camp Rucker, Ala., for helicopter training, joins his wife and son every weekend. The family will return to Panama Canal Zone around the middle of November.

THE DAUGHTER BORN SEPT. 23 at Georgia Baptist Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bugg of 1310 Stillwood Dr. has been named Jennifer Sue.

HOSPITAL NOTE — Mrs. E. T. Bean is ill at Emory Hospital.

PRESIDENT WALLACE M. ALSTON of Agnes Scott and Mrs. Alston have planned a series of afternoon coffees at their home on the campus, honoring the Agnes Scott freshmen.

The first will be held from 1 to 2 o'clock today, with one on Tuesday, Oct. 2, and another on Tuesday, Oct. 9, at the same hour.

TODAY WILL FIND Edwin McMaster Odum back on the campus at the University of Georgia where he is a junior.

ALAN V. KAUFMAN has been pledged to the DKE fraternity at Louisiana State University, according to pledge day announcement.

Miss Mathews Is Bride of Ens. Collins

FORT VALLEY, Sept. 26—Miss Elizabeth Gibson Mathews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Mathews, was married to Ens. William Burton Collins, son of Mrs. William B. Collins and the late Mr. Collins of Thomasville, at an afternoon ceremony solemnized at the Methodist Church here.

Miss Mary Mathews was her sister's maid of honor, and Charlie E. Ison of Moultrie was best man for Ens. Collins. The bridegroom's brother, Joe Collins, and John L. Roberts of Thomasville ushered.

Sacred Heart School Plans Open House

An open house is scheduled Sunday, Sept. 30, for the Sisters of St. Joseph and the Mothers Club of Sacred Heart School. Parents will meet the principal and teachers at 3 p.m. at the school.

If you have a child in school

The traditional school report card chills enthusiasm, kills incentive, says a leading educator. Calling a six year old who isn't ready to read a failure makes no more sense than saying a 12 month old baby not ready to walk has failed. At last there's a new kind of report card that makes sense. Many communities are adopting it. Read about it in October Better Homes & Gardens. Get your copy today, wherever magazines are sold!

Woodbine Club To Meet Today

The first fall meeting of the Woodbine Garden Club will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 27, at the Water Works Lodge.

Mrs. Hazel Quinn will conduct a flower arrangement quiz.

New officers are Mrs. Paul Wier, president; Mrs. F. C. Groover Jr. and Mrs. Ivan Miles, vice presidents; Mrs. R. E. Eason, recording secretary, and Mrs. H. H. Groves, treasurer.

Do Americans commercialize SEX?

Are we distorting our normal sex and marriage attitudes by stressing the physical aspects of sex in music, movies, comics and advertisements?

Do our public media set up a false picture for youth of what acceptable standards are? Are we giving young people the impression that society no longer regards sexual irregularity as an offense, simply because it is commercially profitable to some businesses to regard it as entertainment?

Now, in the October Ladies' Home Journal, five college students and two mothers discuss with Journal editors just how this appeal to physical attributes is affecting not only your own, but your son's and daughter's behavior. What can be done about it? Their answers are important and surprising. Be sure to read "Do Americans Commercialize Sex?"

TWO SIDES TO TODAY'S TEEN-AGE SEX CONFLICTS

A DAUGHTER SAYS:

"I wish my parents were more strict"

Pretty seventeen-year-old Kathy reveals the problems an attractive girl faces when she wants to be popular. You'll read of shocking tests for membership into girls' clubs . . . rules for gang membership . . . what young people do on dates. And Kathy tells what kind of parental authority teen-agers really want.

A MOTHER ASKS:

Thirteen-year-old Patty was popular and pretty . . . her home was the neighborhood hangout.

Soon her parents noticed things were stolen from the house; the kids seemed surly and insolent. But it took a tragedy before her parents realized what they were doing that was wrong. Don't miss this moving, real-life account in "What's a Mother to Do?"

ALSO

"I was a two-ton Annie ... until I lost 115 pounds"

When heartbreak or worry strikes, it's easy to bury yourself in piles of food. That's what happened to Anne Bachner. Now, she tells how she regained control of herself . . . went from a tubby 250 pounds to a pretty 135 in one year . . . found life more fun than ever. Complete with 21 diet menus.

My husband makes me beg for every penny!

He surrounded her with luxuries he thought important, but every time she asked for spending money or wanted to buy something for their son, he opened a degrading debate. Though their marriage seemed doomed, read how the marriage counselor helped solve their problem in "Can This Marriage be Saved?"

Miss Ethredge, Mr. Gunn Are Wed

DAMASCUS, Sept. 26—At a ceremony solemnized at Bethany Baptist Church in Baker County, Miss Sara Helen Ethredge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ethredge of Damascus, was married to Martin Samuel Gunn, son of Mrs. Helen Gunn of Tifton and J. Sam Gunn of Macon.

The Rev. Charles Demere of Tifton was the officiant at the service which was followed by a reception given at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Maxwell.

The bride was attended by Miss Martha Spell of Jesup as maid of honor, Miss Sandra Smith of Manchester as bridesmaid, and Miss Ola Jean Ethredge of Arlington as junior bridesmaid.

She wore a gown of antique ivory satin, illusion and lace with a tiered veil attached to a wreath of orange blossoms. The bride carried a prayer book topped with orchids and tuberoses. Mr. Ethredge gave his daughter in marriage.

Mr. Gunn chose his father as his best man. For his ushers he selected his brother, Reginald, and the bride's cousin, Jerome Ethredge.

After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gunn will live in Greensboro where the latter is employed by the Agricultural Extension Service. Mr. Gunn will continue his studies at the University of Georgia where he is a senior with a major in agricultural engineering.

200 Due For WOMPI Convention

Two hundred WOMPIs (Women of the Motion Picture Industry) land in Atlanta Friday for their three-day national convention.

Delegates are coming from Canada, Denver, Jacksonville, Washington, D.C., and territory in between. They intend to elect new national officers, plan their work for the coming year, and socialize a good bit while they're in Atlanta.

Highlight of the parties will be the Atlanta club's banquet Saturday night.

700 MEMBERS

WOMPI is a four-year-old organization of women connected with the motion picture industry. Now numbering 700 members in 10 clubs, the group makes service in the community its primary objective. It tries to promote good will throughout the industry and encourage good international relations.

Top among business to be discussed by the WOMPIs are plans for expanding the organization.

The women have squeezed in a tea, a cocktail party and a buffet dinner for Friday. On top of that, the Charlotte, N.C., club's "roaring twenties" party is scheduled after the dinner.

Saturday activities will include a Dallas club coffee, a fashion show staged by a local specialty shop, a cocktail party and an installation banquet. Edward J. Forio, vice president of Coca-Cola, will speak to the group then.

"NIGHT CAP" PARTY

After the banquet the New Orleans club is staging a "night cap" party. Sunday the Atlanta group is offering an "early bird" breakfast, and at noon — the end of the convention — the Denver and Toronto clubs are sponsoring a party.

Atlanta claims one national officer — Mrs. Nell Middleton, treasurer. Mrs. Loraine Cass of New Orleans, national president, will conduct the meetings. Mrs. Laura Kenny and Mrs. Stella Paulnot are chairmen for the convention.

Mrs. Hyrne, Mr. Bostick Wed at Home

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 26—Mr. and Mrs. Perry S. Oliver announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Susan Oliver Hyrne, to Charles Dent Bostick, son of Mrs. Charlotte Dent Bostick of Gainesville.

The ceremony was held at the Oliver home here, with the Rev. Roberts Bailey officiating in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

She was attended by Miss Margie Meeks as maid of honor. Wesley Turton of Cordele was best man for Mr. Bostick.

How true that some facts of life seem like secrets! Then, one day, we learn that women like Mrs. Hershfield follow the proper method of douching with a fountain syringe, using an effective yet safe solution, like ZONITE. ZONITE is an effective antiseptic-germicide that washes away germs and odor-causing waste and is harmless to tissues! Benefit from Mrs. Hershfield's experience, and welcome the "peace of mind" and daintiness ZONITE gives you after monthly periods and other times. If any abnormal condition exists, see your doctor. Use ZONITE as directed, as often as needed. Costs pennies per douche.

COUPLE OF TOPS

Clubs Bring Jack Lopez, Johnny Ryan

Two entertainers, long ago established as tops in their fields—Jack Lopez and Johnny Ryan—have returned to the intimate Zebra Lounge and the swank El Morocco.

Lopez, who heads up one of the most versatile Latin combos in the nation, has set up shop at the El Morocco and early indications are he will be around throughout the football season. Lopez features the songs of seductive Barbara France and the entire trio joins in song during the brief, impromptu shows which Jack presents off and on throughout the evening.

Ryan, making his second appearance at the Zebra Lounge, has more original material than any of the risque singers-pianists featured in the Howell House club this season. Evidence of his popularity are the standing-room-only audiences which have filled the Zebra since his return. Johnny is going to make Roy Topps' job especially difficult for him when Roy returns about two weeks from now. (PAUL JONES).

Mrs. Roton Is Cobb's Woman of the Year

By BETTY CARROLLTON
Constitution Staff Writer

ACWORTH, Sept. 26—An active woman whose job is to gather the news is making headlines herself this week.

Mrs. Ouida Roton, editor and entire staff of the Acworth Progress, has been named Cobb County's Woman of the Year.

One of five nominees of the Cobb County Business and Professional Women's Club (although she is not a member of that organization), Mrs. Roton received the largest number of votes in the county-wide balloting.

Mrs. Roton was presented a silver tray by Miss Annie Grace Austin, president of the Cobb County BPW Club, on behalf of the organization. Miss Austin was runner-up in the balloting.

LITTLE TIME FOR HOBBIES

Wife of Pete Roton, a former Constitution photographer and now editor of the Lockheed Southern Star, Cobb County's Woman of the Year has little time for hobbies, she's much too busy getting out a newspaper each week, in addition to her duties as a housewife, mother and grandmother.

As editor, Mrs. Roton sells advertising, gathers and writes news, pens editorials and a column, makes news photographs, keeps the books, handles correspondence, mails bills and sends out tear sheets.

"I do just about everything except set type and make up the pages," she chuckled. (And friends of the versatile matron declare she could probably do those jobs, too, should the necessity arise.)

31st ANNIVERSARY

Residents of Cobb County for more than eight years, Mr. and Mrs. Roton will celebrate their 31st wedding anniversary in November.

They have three children, Mrs. Norma Jean Simmons, Ben Hill; Lindsey Roton, East Point; Mrs. Ouida Yarbrough, Acworth, and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Roton is a member of the Methodist Church, where she is president of the Ladies' Sunday School class, and taught Sunday School for more than 15 years.

A past president of the Acworth PTA, she has held numerous PTA offices in East Point, College Park and Acworth. She served two years as by-laws chairman of the 14th district PTA and was formerly active in both Cobb and Fulton County PTA Councils.

GARDENING

Although most of her activities are now confined to newspaper and church work, Mrs. Roton enjoys gardening, and is an enthusiastic fisherwoman.

"I don't do much flower arranging," she confessed. "I prefer to plant and care for flowers. There's a lot of satisfaction in watching them grow to full bloom."

While on vacation, the energetic woman went deep sea fishing for the first time. She hooked a 53-pound amberjack to win the fishing tournament.

"But I still don't consider myself a champion," she said.

CHAMP BABY SITTER

But her family hails her as a champion baby sitter. Her son, daughters and grandchildren usually visit the Rotons each week. Granddaughter Celeste Simmons, 8, and grandsons Lewis Simmons, 4, and Wade Simmons, 2½, are as much at home with the Rotons as anywhere else. And there's every indication that Lynette Simmons, 8 months, and Jeff Roton, 11 weeks old, will share the delight of grandmother's tender care during parents'-night-out.

Mr. and Mrs. Roton's newspaper work may have established a family tradition: all three of their children have been members of the press at some time during their lives.

AT PAPER OFFICE

Celeste, Lewis and Wade fell under the spell of the roar of the presses recently when sickness in their father's family required Mrs. Roton to baby-sit with them the day her paper went to press.

"I had to take them to the paper with me," Mrs. Roton recalled, "although it was the busiest day of the week."

The youngsters' exploration of the shop was limited, but fascinating.

"I gave them paper and pencils so they could entertain themselves as much as possible," Mrs. Roton said. "Of course, I had to stop every now and then to wash their faces and hands. There's a lot of dust in a newspaper office."

Miss Searcy, Mr. Williams Are Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Searcy of Montgomery announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marjorie Mae Searcy, to Lt. Miller Grieve Williams III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miller G. Williams Jr. of Montgomery and the grandson of Mrs. Miller G. Williams Sr. and the late Mr. Williams of Atlanta.

Plans for the couple's marriage will be announced later.

A graduate of Sidney Lanier High School, Montgomery, Miss Searcy attended the University of Alabama for her freshman and sophomore years, and completed her junior year at Huntingdon College in June. At the university she was a member of Chi Omega Sorority, Triangle, sophomore women's honorary organization, was active in Women's Student Government and was an officer in the YWCA. She is a member of the Montgomery Cotillion Club.

The bidding:

| 1 spade | Pass | Pass | Double |
| Pass | 2 diams. | Pass | 2 no tmp. |
| Pass | 3 no tmp. | Pass | Pass |

Opening lead: Eight of spades.

In today's hand South, with an unmakeable contract on his hands, gave it the old college try, but was nevertheless obliged to pay off to West's alertness.

South's bid of two no trump may impress some players as tending to be the act of an over-cautious man, but any more drastic action is to be avoided at this time, inasmuch as North's hand is an unknown quantity. Sight must not be lost of the fact that he had been drafted into the bidding. North, boasting of eight high card points, was quick to carry on to game.

The eight of spades was opened and East's queen went to declarer's king. Declarer appeared to have nine tricks in full view until West showed out on the first lead of clubs. The budget had to be replanned. Four diamond tricks now became indispensable to declarer's operations. In light of East's failure to keep the opening bid alive, it seemed highly probable that the queen of diamonds was with West. However, a cover of the ten of diamonds would block the suit and permit the cashing of only three diamond tricks.

In the hope of getting by without a cover, South led the nine of diamonds. This would have lulled many players into playing low at trick two but not West. A rapid calculation made it clear to him that the play of the queen could gain, but could not possibly lose. That declarer intended to finesse the jack there could be no reasonable doubt. If declarer had the nine and a small diamond only three tricks were available to him, but if he happened to have the nine and ten alone the cover was imperative. So the queen came up.

South was not yet through. He exited with a spade in an effort to force a heart lead from West; but East took the trick with the ten and relieved partner of the pressure by returning a heart.

Buick Expects To Retain Third Place in 1957 Sales

By JIM MONTGOMERY
Constitution Business Editor

FLINT, Mich., Sept. 26—General Motors' Buick Division showed off its new models at an elaborately produced national press show here today, where Buick boss Edward H. Ragsdale, a GM vice president, declared:

1. Buick will retain third-place in industry sales in 1957 by selling 675,000 cars — 25 per cent more than it sold this year.

2. The new car market will be stimulated by the impact of President Eisenhower's highway program, which will begin to manifest itself in 1957; by an anticipated increase in defense spending, and by "higher farm income."

JOB STIMULUS

3. The 67,000,000 people now working—1½ million more than a year ago—are making more money available for automobile purchases.

The Buick executive also joined in with his fellow brass at Chevrolet by taking a dig at Ford. The Buick, he said, "is not the culmination of 10 years of development" (a phrase used by Henry Ford II in describing his firm's 1957 model).

"It's brand new," Ragsdale continued. "We've just done it."

His statement also was aimed at Ford's new Fairlane 500 model, with which the Dearborn-headquartered automobile maker hopes to attract buyers who otherwise would buy "stripped down" heavier cars in the medium-priced field.

SPOOF MOTORS INQUIRY

Buick's 1957 line, which will be introduced to the public Nov. 9, was unveiled for newsmen in a talent-loaded professional stage production that pulled no punches in spoofing as politically-inspired the Congressional investigation of the automobile industry earlier this year.

However, Ragsdale said later, the criticism the automobile industry underwent this year did "a certain amount of good. I think all of us are better off for having aired some of our differences and got them off our chests."

But he also scored critics who believe the industry should be subject to government controls and regulations.

"We demonstrated again this year," the new Buick chief declared, "that we are quite capable of imposing our own regulations when the supply of cars gets out of balance with the demand."

He explained that Buick dealers had an inventory of 80,000 cars in April, highest in the company's history.

But by reducing production, Ragsdale pointed out, "We were able to cut this inventory to where we wil lhave less than 6,000 1956 models on hand when the new car is introduced"— or about one per cent of the 1956-model output.

He said three per cent has been considered a normal supply to have on hand at new model introduction time.

Ragsdale also had a barb for those who complain that sales were off so much this year because the 1955 market was over sold.

"The auto industry doesn't have enough capacity to fill the demand that would come if everyone who wanted a new car ordered it in a single year," he stated.

551,000 THIS YEAR

He said Buick output will total 551,000 cars this year, "less than a day's production short of the 1950 total"—Buick's second best year. This GM division's record was set with 781,000 units in 1955.

Ragsdale, who succeeded Ivan Wiles as head of the division earlier this year, said Buick's share of total industry output this year would amount to 9.5 per cent, compared with 10.3 per cent last year.

He emphasized, however that Buick's 1956 share is one per cent higher than its 1950 share—"the measure of our growth in the last six years."

He admitted that dealer profits this year had been "pretty thin," but forecast improvement in 1957 — a year which he believes will see the end of bootlegging and unethical advertising.

DEALERS LAMPOONED

The musical comedy presentation in this GM city (the main Buick and Chevrolet plants are located here) also lampooned auto dealers who rely on misleading advertising, congressional investigations in general, farm price supports and foreign aid spending.

Even the Secretary of Agriculture was given notice: "When the others say 'no' it means 'maybe,'" the chorus chanted. "But when Benson says 'no' it means 'no.'"

The 1957 Buick line is one of 10 in the industry with a new body shell for 1957. It also has some engineering improvements, the details of which will be withheld until public introduction time.

Some reporters commented, however, that the 1957 Buick shows less drastic appearance change from last year than a number of other lines which have been shown to the press in the past week.

Pen Designed To Fill Self By Capillary Draw Is Here

A revolutionary new writing instrument—Parker Pen Co.'s "Parker 61," first fountain pen designed to fill itself by capillary attraction—was introduced here Wednesday.

INTRODUCES NEW PEN
Daniel Parker

Daniel Parker, executive vice president of the firm which bears his name, came to Atlanta to make "the Southeastern announcement."

A grandson of the man who founded Parker Pen in 1888, Parker declared the new product is "a major step in a new direction."

The pen, higher-priced than Parker's other writing instruments, will be on the market by Nov. 7 when a national advertising campaign will be launched. Retail prices start at $20. The pen, which has no moving parts, fills in about 10 seconds by way of a spiral capillary cell and holds enough ink for "seven hours of continous writing," Parker reported. The outside of the cell is covered with a plastic material which repels liquid so that the pen is dry on removal from the ink supply.

About 100 retail dealers in the Atlanta area and some 2,500 in the Southeast will have the new pen.

Parker said the writing instrument industry of the United States "sets the pattern for the world." The industry is "highly competitive," he pointed out, and "must rely on its own research because we are the bantam cocks rather than the lions of industry."

Retreat Ends Cotton Gains

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 25 cents a bale higher to 30 cents lower today.

The market later retreated as much as $1 a bale from the best levels as profit taking and hedging set in, although closing levels were a little up from the lows.

Most of the support in current crop months was credited to mills. Favorable exports and expectations of higher cotton loan entries also stimulated local short covering. Demand for later deliveries, which showed losses for the day, was limited.

Exporters estimated that close to 60 per cent of the CCC export cotton purchased by shippers under the current program has been committed abroad either as actual sales or shipment on consignment. Shippers have bought approximately 3,815,000 bales of CCC cotton under the current program.

Feed Grains, Beans Gain

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (AP)—Feed grains and soybeans advanced while an erratic trend prevailed in wheat and rye on the Board of Trade today.

At the outset all cereals showed small losses. Corn perked up after the first hour, aided in part by export business, and the firmness in this grain spread first to oats and then to soybeans.

Cash corn receipts continued to run very light despite wonderful harvesting weather. A strong demand persisted for the cash article and No. 2 yellow sold at $1.59. It was quoted at a premium of 21 cents over the December future at the close.

Spain reportedly was in the market for

HIS PLUGS BORDER ON MAUDLIN

Godfrey's Direct Play To Home Viewer Helps

By JACK GOULD

NEW YORK, Sept. 26—A very subdued and soft-spoken Arthur Godfrey appeared tonight on television in the resumption of his Wednesday night variety show. The humorist is working this season in a studio instead of a theater and as a result is playing more directly to the home viewer. The change may work out quite well, too. Tonight the pacing and informality of the program was reminiscent of Dave Garroway's early show out of Chicago. There were some very pleasant moments.

However, Mr. Godfrey may find it necessary to go outside of his own stage family and those talent scout winners if he wants to achieve maximum effectiveness. A cast consisting only of vocalists makes good sense on radio but on TV there should be a little dancing and movement to provide visual relief.

Jack Gould

Tonight Mr. Godfrey was not his usually assured self in delivering the commercials; he bordered on the maudlin in begging for patronage of his sponsors. Mr. Godfrey's program this year is being broadcast in color. At the opening of the program he observed that he has two color sets but can't tune either very satisfactorily without the aid of an engineer. Toward the show's end he sought to mollify color set manufacturers by emphasizing that the newer sets are greatly improved and the color just fine.

"Bang the Drum Slowly," a dramatization of the Mark Harris novel about a baseball player with an incurable disease, was not very successfully conveyed to the television screen tonight. The sense of poignancy was never fully realized because of the extremely contrived staging and the wretchedly drawn characterizations of many associated with the ball club. Less worry over doing a Greek tragedy on the national pastime and more concern for plausibility would have helped.

Albert Salmi has his effective moments as the stricken player. Paul Newman doubled as the player's friend and the play's Greek chorus.

Adlai Frees TV To Give Ike Time For Charity Plea

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 26 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said tonight the Democratic Party would gladly relinquish the right to ask for equal radio and television time should President Eisenhower make a fund-raising appeal in behalf of the United Community Funds over those media.

In a telegram to the four major networks he said:

"It has come to my attention that the Federal Communications Commission has advised that any network carrying a fund-raising appeal by President Eisenhower in behalf of the United Community Funds and Councils of America would have to grant free time to all other presidential candidates. As the candidate of the Democratic Party, I can assure you that in this instance we gladly relinquish the right to ask for equal time. It is traditional for the President of the United States to open this important fund-raising campaign. It is our hope that this tradition be continued — free now and in the future, of any taint of partisanship. Certainly, this campaign has my full support."

Rains Hit Italy

ROME, Sept. 26 (UP)—Torrential rain drenched the Italian boot from top to toe today, and long-suffering Italians hoped it would bring relief from the summer's record heat. As much as two inches of rain fell in some places.

NBC Won't Colorcast the World Series

NBC has decided not to present the World Series in color this year. Last October it televised the annual baseball classic in color for the first time, but the outdoor pickup was far from impressive.

Color cameras at that time seemed unable to cope successfully with changing lighting conditions caused by the movement of the sun and clouds and a lengthening of shadows. Just to be on the safe side when the series begins next week, NBC will stick with the old-fashioned black and white.

Frigidaire will drop its alternate-week sponsorship of Edgar Bergen's Do You Trust Your Wife? program at the end of this year. Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., co-sponsors the program, televised by CBS on Tuesdays at 10:30 p.m.

CBS has announced five programs to be televised in color on a regular basis during the 1956-57 season.

The CBS color schedule includes Arthur Godfrey's Wednesday evening program, Ford Star Jubilee, the Red Skelton Show, Heckle and Jeckle and Mr. Mc-Boing-Boing.

Here's how you can send your youngster to college...

At $175 to $200 a month, few families could meet college expenses from current income. Instead, they save for it over a period of years.

For example, say your goal is $7,000. Based on ATLANTA FEDERAL's current 3½% rate, you can save as little as $25 each month if you start when your child is age one until high school graduation time. At age six, you can save $40 each month and reach the same goal — at age ten, $64 each month. ATLANTA FEDERAL's twice-a-year returns can save you nearly 30% of your college expenses, if you start saving early enough. Why not come in and start tomorrow?

Long-Range Sea Test of Missile Told

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Army was reported today to have fired a test device many hundreds of miles out over the ocean in the first long-distance experiment of its Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile—IRBM—program.

The initial trial in the Jupiter weapon project is understood to have been made last week, with the device—it is not yet a weapon—launched from the armed forces' missile center at Patrick Air Force Base on the Florida east coast.

PENTAGON MUM

The Pentagon declined to discuss the reports, obtained from other sources outside Washington. A spokesman would say only that research and development tests of all kinds continue constantly but "we never comment on results."

However, the Army had disclosed as early as last spring plans to conduct long-range tests in the 1,500-mile ballistic missile project. Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at the Huntsville, Ala., Arsenal, said there would be no trouble in fabricating an object which could be fired "well over 3,000 miles"—and added "we will do that shortly ourselves."

HIGH PERFORMANCE

There was no indication that this first long-range test of propellants and aiming control necessarily involved an all-out effort to reach the more-than-3,000 mile range mentioned by Medaris. That may come later.

Nevertheless, the object fired by the Army did produce remarkably high performance, on the basis of unofficial reports.

One source suggested that if the Army weaponeers had desired it, the test device could have been launched to an altitude sufficient to compare with that planned for the earth satellites. The earth satellite Vanguard program of the government contemplates putting small, 21-inch spheres into orbit at a height of about 300 miles.

LATERAL TESTING

The Army experiment was concerned with lateral testing, which however, also necessarily includes extremely high trajectories, or arcs, reaching scores of miles into the air to yield hundreds of miles of range.

The Army has been using its Redstone ballistic missile as a departure point for development of an IRBM weapon. The Redstone has a modest range of about 200 miles. Medaris was asked by reporters last winter if he believed the range of the Redstone could be extended. He replied that there was the "capability of extension." To another question, he said the addition of a second "stage" of rocket motors would not necessarily be required to boost the range to the 1,500-mile specifications for an IRBM.

The device fired last week therefore may have used only a single-stage rocket engine, but one of very high power.

The Army has not disclosed the power output which it uses or seeks in the IRBM program. However, it recently completed at the Huntsville arsenal a test stand for rocket engines designed to handle up to half a million pounds of thrust.

Flossy Roaring on N.Y., Builds Up 50-Mile Winds

Storm Warnings Fly Along Coast As Rains, Floods Are Threatened

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Tropical storm Flossy, gathering force anew, moved toward the New York-New England coast tonight.

Already the cause of at least 16 deaths, almost a score of persons missing and millions of dollars in property damage, Flossy posed a new threat of heavy rains and possible flood tides.

Heading northeast from off the shore of Wilmington, N. C., Flossy picked up strength. Winds of 35 miles an hour, with gusts up to 50 m.p.h., were preceding the storm center.

WARNINGS

Storm warnings were displayed from Cape Hatteras, N. C., as far north as Provincetown, Mass., including Long Island Sound and Chesapeake and Delaware bays.

The Weather Bureau said advance gustiness was being felt early in the evening off the southern New Jersey coastal areas. Winds of 40 to 50 miles per hour were expected to spread into the southern New England coastal areas by late tonight. Tides of two to three feet above normal are indicated, the Weather Bureau warned, with some flooding at times of high tide tonight and Thursday from Cape Hatteras, northeastward to Block Island and northward to outer Cape Cod.

HEAVY RAINS

Heavy rains are expected to spread up from North Carolina, through Virginia and eastern Maryland tonight and into southern New Jersey late tonight.

Flossy was relocated by the Weather Bureau at 5 p.m. EST a short distance north of Wilmington, N. C. Movement northeast was reported as very slow during the preceding six hours.

The storm is expected to move northeast about eight miles per hour during the next 12 hours and may intensify Thursday as it moves off the coast.

Decatur Sells Bonds, Speeds $800,000 Jobs

Decatur civic improvements totaling almost $800,000 will get under way as soon as contracts can be let, Mayor A. Mell Turner said Wednesday.

The mayor made the announcement immediately following the sale of civic improvement bonds. The $800,000 issue, second largest in the city's history, was passed last October.

Included in the bond sale Wednesday were funds for recreation, storm sewers, fire station, traffic and city hall improvements.

Two firms submitted bids for the $800,000 issue. Accepted was an offer of $784,134 from the Trust Company of Georgia. The Robinson-Humphrey Co. Inc. was low bidder with $773,725

Improvement plans include:

New fire station, $165,000.

Traffic improvement, including widening of certain congested streets and additional traffic lights, $170,000.

Renovations and additions to the city hall, $50,000.

Expanding storm sewers along Ponce de Leon avenue, from Marshall street to Ponce de Leon school, $30,000.

Mayor Turner told the commission he felt the city had received "extremely good bids based on present market values."

The bonds have accrued $10,000 interest, which will be added to the $784,134 selling price, Turner told the commission. The resulting $6,000 deficit may come from general purpose funds, or may be cut from one or all the improvement plans on a pro rata basis, the mayor disclosed.

Bonds mature in 30 years at three per cent interest. They were sold in $1,000 denominations.

Welk Wins Honors

Union Offering $20 Million for Home Loans

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—The International Ladies' Garment Workers Union said today it is making 20 million dollars available for loans to the general public to finance home construction.

David Dubinsky, union president, told a news conference the fund was for the buildings of Veterans Administration-guaranteed new single homes throughout the country. He said he expected the interest rate to be slightly more than 4 per cent a year.

The Chase Manhattan Bank was announced as the management agent for the mortgages. The union reportedly has turned one million dollars over to the bank to begin the program.

NOT WITHOUT HONOR

'Profitable' Presley Wows 60,000 at Hometown Fair

TUPELO, Miss., Sept. 26 (AP)—Elvis Presley came back home today and this city rocked, rolled, and strained at the seams.

James M. Savery, president and manager of the sponsoring Mississippi-Alabama Fair and Dairy Show, estimated 60,000 persons were in town. Population: 12,000.

12,000 SEATS SOLD OUT

However, only 7,500 showed up for the matinee. The 12,000 capacity fairgrounds grandstand was sold out for the night performance.

Despite efforts of 50 National Guardsmen and about 25 state highway patrolmen, Elvis' fans almost equaled his performance.

One blonde teen-ager broke through a ring of patrolmen guarding the platform where Presley was performing.

As he sang "don't be cruel" she screamed: "I love him, I need him."

Removed from the platform by a patrolman, she continued to cry and scream.

LOST HIS BUTTONS

Elvis lost only a few buttons during the performance. One teenage girl, when he snake-hipped too close to the edge of the stage, snatched the buttons off his blue velvet shirt.

After he wound up with "Hound Dog," patrolmen whisked him off to an undisclosed location and kept him out of sight until the night show.

Elvis was paid $5,000 plus 60 per cent of the gate for the two performances. Fair officials called it a bargain.

He was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Presley, who moved from Tupelo to Memphis when he was 14.

Elvis told newsmen he enjoyed returning home "just like any other fellow does."

CHARTERED BUSES

Many were standing in line when the gates open at 7 a.m.

Wenh Gov. J. P. Coleman arrived in a patrol-escorted limousine shortly before Presley, many young fans thought it was Presley's car and gave forth with screams and shouts.

As the governor stepped from the car, the cheers turned to groans and several were heard to say:

"Oh, it is only the governor. We want Elvis."

Judge Raps Mountain Park's Poll Setup, Affirms Results

Judge Eugene Gunby overruled Wednesday a contest of the city election at Mountain Park but said in an order of the Court of Ordinary that he would "rule otherwise . . . were it not strictly limited by the statutes."

The Fulton County ordinary's ruling said that under law, he could only rule whether the persons contesting the election had been elected or whether the persons claiming election were actually elected.

LACKS JURISDICTION

"It does not have jurisdiction to entertain the question as to whether the election itself, out of which the contest grew, was void," the ruling said.

The judge's ruling brought out that the contesters of the election claimed ballots were illegally counted in secret, that a number of voters were improperly registered, that city ordinances under which the election was held were not properly enacted and there were other "irregularities" in the election.

Under law, the court could not decide in favor of the contestants, said the order, "although it is the opinion of this court that the city officials of Mountain Park were careless and negligent in the performance of their duties in connection with the election of Aug. 18, 1956. . . ."

The order pointed out that the law requires contestants to prove their contentions "and they have not done so."

BENCH SUGGESTS

Judge Gunby suggested in his order that the City of Mountain Park "should maintain an ordinance book, should re-examine and re-enact its ordinances, where necessary, and that a permanent record of registered voters should be maintained."

The judge added that the court also believed that "election laws should be complied with in every respect in order to protect and preserve the rights of the citizens of Mountain Park."

The order affirmed the election of Mayor C. D. Johnson and Councilmen W. L. Townsend, G. W. Gleeson, W. A. Williams, C. J. Hunt and L. E. Long. The contestants were L. M. Roberts Sr., candidate for mayor and E. B. Cohn, council candidate.

State Governing Cost Up 5-Fold Since '42

The cost of operating Georgia's state government has increased 535 per cent in 13 years—the greatest rate of advance in the Southeast.

That was the report here Wednesday from Merrill C. Lofton, Atlanta field manager for the U.S. Dept. of Commerce. Lofton based his report on an analysis of Census Bureau reports on state government finances.

State taxes collected in Georgia rose by just over 400 per cent between 1942 and 1956, Lofton said.

The functions in Georgia and their percentage-wise increased demands include education, currently allocated $168,933,000, up 654 per cent; public welfare, $67,039,000, up 652 per cent; hospitals and institutions for the handicapped, $18,603,000, up 667 per cent; health facilities, $30,527,000, up 614 per cent; roads, $83,283,000, up 316 per cent.

Scott Dorm Dedicated to The Walters

A $700,000 dormitory, built to house 150 sophomores at Agnes Scott College, Wednesday was dedicated as memorial to the late Mrs. George C. Walters, an Agnes Scott Alumna, and her late husband.

Dr. James Ross McCain, college president emeritus, who delivered the dedicatory address at the new three-floor Walters Hall, said the new building was erected to "the college's present and future students."

Demurrer Halts Airways' Case

Southern Airways' first legal attempt to validate a lease it claims to hold on the Naval Air Station site has been dismissed by Superior Court Judge Frank Guess.

The judge ruled on a demurrer brought by the county asking dismissal of the case. Southern sought recording lease agreements signed in 1941 and 1943 with Commissioner Scott Candler.

Draft Aide In Alabama Moved Here

Col. James T. Johnson, deputy state Selective Service director for Alabama, recieved orders Wednesday from Washington transferring him to the agency's Atlanta regional headquarters. The transfer is effective Oct. 1.

Gov. James E. Folsom's office Wednesday insisted that the transfer had no connection with the controversial case of Fred Gray, young Negro attorney who was a leader in the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott. Some 13 local draft board members resigned recently after Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service head, ordered an indefinite delay in Gray's induction.

NO COMMENT

Regional Selective Service officials were not available for comment about Col. Johnson's assignment here.

Col. Johnson's transfer was ordered by Gen. Hershey following an Aug. 7 request by Gov. Folsom that he be "declared surplus."

GRAY CASE

Although Gov. Folsom has denied that the Gray case had anything to do with his request for Col. Johnson's transfer, speculation persisted that the governor was displeased over the handling of the case when he wrote Hershey asking for the change.

Col. Johnson said he had "nothing to say" about the transfer, which will end 16 years of continuous service at Alabama Selective Service headquarters.

National Selective Service sources said Folsom "in a routine letter," and before the Gray case became a hot issue, asked that Johnson be declared surplus and given a new assignment.

Funeral Planned Here Today for Mrs. Fernandez

Graveside services for Mrs. Raoul Fernandez, former Atlantan who died unexpectedly Monday at her home in Los Angeles, Calif., will be held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in Westview Cemetery. The Rev. M. L. Wood will officiate.

Mrs. Fernandez was the former Katherin Gholstin of Atlanta. She was married to Edwin F. Johnson, former Fulton County commissioner and at one time an executive of The Atlanta Journal and the old Atlanta Georgian. Mr. Johnson died in 1937.

She is survived by her husband; and a son, Louis G. Johnson of St. Louis, Mo.

$150-$250 PER WK.

I WANT two neat-appearing men with cars to represent an old national concern. One of the largest of its kind with offices established throughout the state. If you are willing to work hard for $150 and up per week and you are able to work in the state of Georgia Monday through Friday, don't pass up this ad. If you are a man of average intelligence, I want to talk to you. I know what you are probably thinking as you read this ad the same as I thought to myself many times when I was out job hunting, that this is just another one of promises. Believe me fellows, it is not. It is 36 months since I joined this firm and I regret to this day it wasn't 10 years ago, have made more money in the past 36 months with this firm than I have earned with other firms in previous 5 years, no matter what your previous experience has been. Whether it was selling magazines, books, vacuum cleaners, appliances, picture coupons or service and erection. If you are able to open your mouth and talk to me I will show you how easy it is to earn up to $250 a week with this company. Experience is not necessary. We give you complete training. If accepted you will be employed by one of the largest concerns of its kind in this country. You will be backed by millions of dollars of advance advertising. This advertising will keep you busy constantly calling on prospects in your territory with qualified leads sent in by people demanding that our representative call on them. This is a job with security for the rest of your life. Get in on the ground floor. You owe it to yourself to answer this ad. You have nothing to lose and everything to gain. Come in and let us prove to you that this is what you have been waiting for. Contact Mr. Liles, Peachtree Room, Peachtree Hotel, 2 o'clock to 5 p.m., Friday and from 6 until 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 28.

A Rhyme a Day

"For several generations The Constitution has been our most welcomed guest. We look forward to its morning arrival just as avidly as did our grandparents during the 89 years of 'The South's Standard Newspaper.'"—Note to this space (Signed) Mrs. M-----.

Thanks for your kind remarks, our friend . . . It's nice to know that you depend . . . on this newspaper as your source . . . of information and, of course . . . we do not have the space to name . . . all those who added to its fame . . . whose brilliance was the glowing spark . . . unquenchable, in all that dark . . . disastrous and frightening phase . . . that came with Reconstruction Days.

She proudly lifts her head among . . . the towering buildings that have sprung . . . from ashes and the reddening clay . . . left when the conqueror marched away . . . still strong and vibrant as in youth . . . still dedicated to the truth . . . both in the past and present tense . . . a lady in the finest sense.

I think the editors will now . . . be proud to stand and take a bow . . . and I'm sure they'll be glad to know . . . your people read it years ago . . . and glad that you and all your tribe . . . still find it pleasant to subscribe . . . and though I cannot speak for them . . . I'm glad to hear from you, Miss Em.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

Nitroglycerin is a time honored remedy for angina pectoris. It usually relieves chest pain within a few seconds after the tablet is placed under the tongue. But the good effects are short-lived and numerous attempts have been made to find a substitute that will dilate the coronary vessels for a longer period.

Several products of this nature are available but they are far from perfect. The latest is choline theophyllinate. Remarkable results were obtained when this drug was used on 67 individuals suffering from typical angina pectoris.

The cardiologists at the Chicago Medical School noted a marked decrease in the number and severity of attacks of pain. The majority were able to walk longer distances without developing chest discomfort.

In the past, bed rest was used more frequently than now in treating angina pectoris. It remains good treatment and is indicated whenever anginal pains are intensified. It should be considered whenever the condition comes on more quickly and with greater frequency than before. The same can be said when the sensation of pressure appears with less effort or excitement or when sitting quietly in a chair.

These are signs of a setback or indicate that coronary thrombosis is in the offing. A week or two in bed corrects the current problem and the individual does not have as much distress after activity is resumed.

Diet also plays a role because of the relationship between hardening of the coronary arteries and dietary fats and cholesterols. The angina sufferer has nothing to lose and everything to gain by skimping on fatty foods, even though the plan is not accepted universally.

The same can be said of heparin and dicoumarol. These anti-coagulant drugs discourage the clotting of blood and theoretically are made to order for the prevention of coronary thrombosis.

Dr. E. S. Nichol of Miami, Fla. treated more than 1,100 coronary artery disease patients with one of these products for six months to eight years. During this time, 16 per cent died, a much lower rate than might be expected if the drugs had not been used.

In a somewhat similar study from Africa, the mortality rate among those receiving anti-coagulants over a long period was 7.3 compared with a control group of equal size who showed a mortality of 33 per cent.

Library To Show Scotland Films

This showing, which is the fifth in a series on countries of the world, is sponsored by the Group Service Office of the library and is open to the general public.
